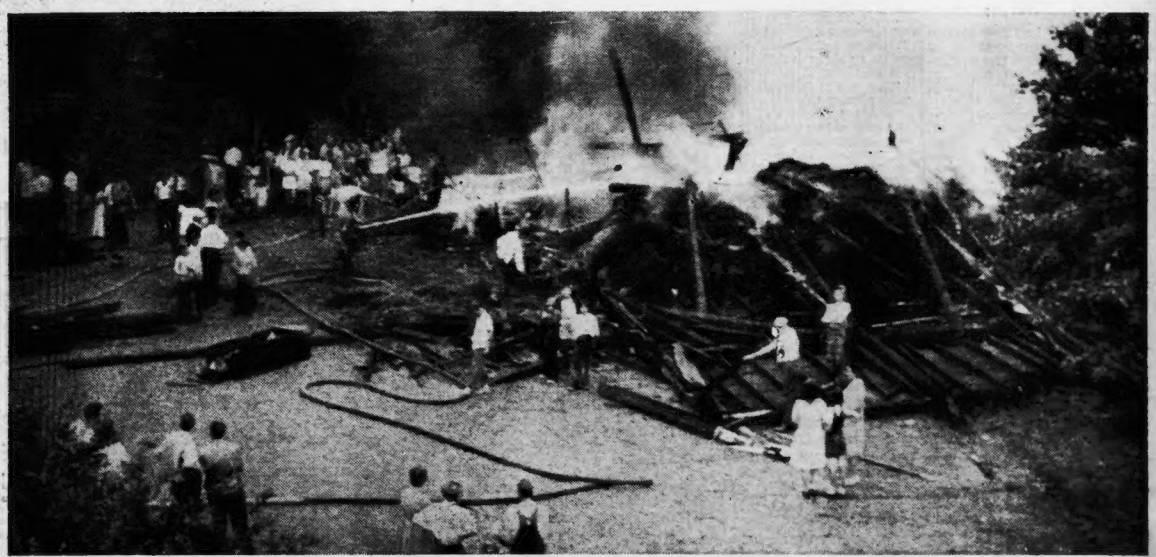
'ANNE STRAW' IN MYSTERY PHONE CALL

LIBRARY OF
JUL 30
STATE HOUSE, BOS

NEW YORK, July 29—The Missing Persons Bureau received a telephone call last night from a girl who said she was Anne Straw, 20, missing Smith College student, reporting she was "well, alive and perfectly all right." The girl said she merely "wanted to get away for a while," and "was tired of all the publicity."

Detectives reported they traced the telephone call to "the Times Square area." They said they had advised the girl to telephone her parents at Holderness, N. H., and she had promised to call immediately.

A full report of the girl's telephone conversation with New York police wasrelayed by teletype to New Hampshire State Police at Concord, N. H.



Lightning, Fire Destroy Quincy Buildings—Buildings at Sailor's Snug Harbor, in the Germantown section of Quincy, are reduced to ashes after being struck by lightning and set afire. Damage to the structures was estimated at $20,000. The buildings, housing cattle, horses and hay, were struck at the height of the torrential rain and lightning storm.

Kaiser Lashes Out At Plane 'Kiss-Off'

WASHINGTON, July 29 (AP) — Henry J. Kaiser declared today his wartime plans to build a vast air cargo fleet to thwart Hitler's submarine successes got "a clever, mysterious kiss-off." "Can't you find out why?" he asked in a statement prepared for a Senate war investigating subcommittee as he was called to testify as the committee opened its second day of public hearings into some $40,000,000 worth of plane contracts awarded to him and Howard Hughes, millionaire movie producer.

No planes produced under the contracts are in use by the armed services.

In his statement, Kaiser categorically denied:

1—That he put "the heat of hell on Washington" to build the cargo planes as Interior Sec. Krug declared last week.

2—That he was present at any of the parties at which Hughes entertained high government officials.

3—That Elliott Roosevelt, son of the late President, had anything to do with the letting of the cargo plane contract.

He asserted:

"This committee is welcome to question me in detail about Hollywood glamor or blondes, but the only girls I know about are the patriotic women who left their kitchens, entered war industries and did an unforgettable job toward winning the war.

NEVER MET ELLIOTT

"Referring to sensational rumors preceding this investigation I want to state that I do not recall ever having met Elliott Roosevelt, and I never have had any business relations with him."

Kaiser said "something very strange took place" in his early negotiations with government officials concerning his proposal in July, 1942, to build an air cargo fleet.

When he first proposed the idea, the witness said, the response was enthusiastic, but within two weeks so much opposition developed that he heard "certain Army generals were going to run me out of town."

Kaiser said he first became aware of a change in attitude at a conference with a War Production Board committee, headed by aircraft manufacturer Donald Douglas, in August. He added:

"I soon saw the great opportunity to build a huge fleet of cargo planes was lost. The cards were stacked. . . . I failed even to discover the names of the individuals who succeeded in kissing off what the people and the press had shown they wanted."

GOADS COMMITTEE

In asking the committee to "find out why," Kaiser said that if the Senators are thorough in their inquiry they "cannot help but discover still at work the same forces that handicapped us inthe war and now leave us with a weak air force."

The same forces, he continued, have hampered his development of a new steel plant at Fontana, Cal., despite a steel shortage which "now threatens to hog-tie our postwar economy."

Discussing Krug's statement about "the heat of hell," Kaiser said "that takes us back to the summer of 1942." He said:

"The Allies were being defeated on the sea and every front. Hundreds of ships and their cargoes of material and troops were being sunk by Axis submarines—sinking ships faster than new ships could be built, regardless of unprecedented speed in construction.

"The 'heat of hell' certainly was turned on.

MADE 2 SUGGESTIONS

"But Mr. Krug is mistaken that one shipbuilder turned on the heat. The people and the free press of this nation turned it on. The cry was to stop losing the war."

At that time, Kaiser said, he suggested two solutions:

1. A great air cargo fleet to fly over the submarine packs.

2. A great fleet of 100 aircraft carriers to destroy the subs.

"The exact proposal on the cargo planes was that we would do a mass production job and pour out planes speedily to deliver troops and war supplies. Let me re-emphasize: our promise was mass production of planes and ships to help lick the submarines.

"Kaiser was stopped on that. I failed to impress those in power. Not even the thunderous demands of the public and press were strong enough for Washington to order the go-ahead on speedy mass production of cargo planes. The opposition was too great."

Kaiser said the Navy, too, at first rejected his proposal to turn out carriers, but reversed its position after his first flattop was delivered and made its trial runs.

OPPOSITION DEVELOPS

The witness said Douglas originally was "captivated" by his cargo plane suggestion and sent engineers to the Kaiser shipyards to help with planning. Another manufacturer, Glenn L. Martin of Baltimore, "showed considerable interest."

Then the WPB committee to develop plans was named, Kaiser continued, and "much opposition developed in official circles."

He asserted:

"Word came to me on the night of Aug. 2 (1941) that cer-

Brewster Free Trip Story Labeled Lie by Hughes

Special to the Boston Evening American

LOS ANGELES, July 29—Sen. Owen Brewster's story of the circumstances under which he accepted free air trips from Howard Hughes was contradicted today by Hughes in a formal statement asserting the senator's explanation is a "very amateurish lie." Hughes' response to Brewster follows:

Regarding Sen. Brewster's statement, I believe the following facts will prove that his statement is a very amateurish lie.

Brewster now claims that when I talked to him in Kansas City, I asked him to come to Washington.

The truth is that I did not ask him to come to Washington. He told me he was leaving for Washington that afternoon and that he already had his reservation.

Here is what he said:

"I am leaving this afternoon for Washington on your airline and I will meet you in my room at the Mayflower Hotel as soon as I get in."

CITES PHONE RECORD

I replied that I would prefer to see him the next day in his office.

Now Brewster claims that during our phone conversation I persuaded him to come to Washington, and that after our phone conversation he went out and bought a ticket to Washington.

To prove that this is a very obvious lie, I direct your attention to the following records:

The official telephone company records show that I talked to Brewster on Feb. 9 at 10:07 a. m.

Now, when did Brewster buy his ticket to Washington?

The official airline records show that he bought his ticket and made his actual seat reservation on Feb. 8, 1947, for departure from Kansas City on TWA flight No. 100 scheduled to leave Kansas City Feb. 9 at 10:25 a. m.

ALREADY HAD TICKET

So when I talked to Brewster, he already had his ticket to Washington and he had already made his actual seat reservation for departure on flight No. 100.

Under those circumstances, it is difficult to see how I could have persuaded him to come to Washington.

Brewster's recent statement also said that, until I talked to him on the phone, he planned to come from Kansas City to Washington via Morgantown, arriving in Washington Wednesday.

This hardly corresponds with the fact that he already had in his pocket a TWA airline ticket direct from Kansas City to Washington on flight No. 100, leaving Kansas City and flying direct to Washington on Sunday.

Furthermore, TWA does not even go to Morgantown.

Brewster now claims I offered to fly him from Washington to Morgantown in order to induce him to come to Washington.

The true facts are that I never heard of Brewster's desire to go to Morgantown until after he was in Washington.

BARES 2D TRIP

Regarding the second special trip in a private airplane—the one to Columbus, Ohio—Sen. Brewster requested that trip from me the following day, Tuesday, Feb. 12, 1947.

It is difficult to understand how that trip might have been used to induce Brewster to come to Washington since he did not even tell me he wanted to go to Columbus until two days after he arrived in Washington.

The bald and obvious fact remains that, while Brewster criticizes others for accepting my hospitality, he himself brazenly requested and accepted from me $1400 worth of special airplane transportation in a luxurious private airplane.

He has never paid for it and certainly never had any intention of paying for it.

WASHINGTON, July 29—Sen. Ferguson (R.) of Michigan promised to disclose the identity of a highly placed politician who ordered restoration of Howard Hughes' $18,000,000 flying boat contract after it had been ordered canceled at least three times.

The Senator, who is directing the war frauds inquiry into two wartime aircraft projects undertaken by Hughes at a cost of $40,000,000 to the government, also said he is prepared to tie in a dozen memos written by the late President Roosevelt.

Missing Bag New Clue in Heiress Hunt

By DONALD J. MacPHAIL

HOLDERNESS, N. H., July 29—State Police disclosed today that an overnight suitcase is missing from the belongings of Anne Straw, 20-year-old heiress and Smith College student who vanished from the summer lodge of her wealthy foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Ellis Straw, nine days ago.

Sgt. Stuart Currier also said it was probable some of Anne's clothing might also be missing. He added that neither the girl's parents nor her aunt, Miss Ruth Higgins, knew the extent of Anne's wardrobe and were unable to help police determine whether any of her clothing was gone. He said Mrs. Maude Miller of Plymouth, the Straw laundress, would make a check of her wearing apparel today to learn whether any dresses, stockings or undergarments had been taken.

Currier declined to state how ng investigators had known about the missing overnight bag. When Anne first was reported as a missing person, police said the only clothing not accounted for were the two-piece pajamas in which she went to bed at 10 p. m., July 21. Her absence was discovered the following morning.

The new suitcase clue was revealed as Currier dismissed reports that a break in the case was imminent. These reports were based on a "hot tip" that the girl had been located in Holyoke, Mass., but police there reported today their clues had "petered out."

DIVIDED OPINION

Currier admitted today that there was divided opinion about the girl's fate, with some officials convinced she has drowned, others insisting a break was near in the case, and Anne's foster parents hopeful that she would be found alive.

The State Police sergeant, directing the investigation at the scene, said:

"From all evidence so far it looks as though she is in the lake."

Sheriff Van Gardner of Littleton, who was in charge of dragging operations at Little Squam lake, said:

"Something definite will break today but I can't tell you now what it is. The break we have been looking for is coming quick."

Bolstering the parents' hope of a happy solution to the mystery, it was learned, was the fact that Anne's suitcase was not found among her belongings.

AUNT STARTS SEARCH

Currier said that when Anne's family found that the overnight bag—an airplane style blue covered suitcase with tan leather trimmings—was not among her things here, her aunt, Miss Ruth Higgins, went to the Straw home in Manchester to look for it. The suitcase was not there. Currier added:

"There is a possibility Anne may have loaned it to a girl friend or that she left it at Smith College. But in my book it is listed as missing and it is possible that she may have taken it with her."

Other developments in the case today was the sudden departure of Edmund F. Higgins of Pihaladelphia, uncle of the pretty heiress and spokesman for the Straw family, for an unanounced destination out of the state, and a check by New Hampshire authorities on a Massachusetts registered automobile.

This was the first disclosure that a Bay State car figured in the case and checking then disclosed that State Police at Concord had queried the registry of motor vehicles at Boston for the owner and driver of a certain Massachusetts car. Concord State Police declined to give any information.

GOOD-LOOKING YOUTH

The Boston American learned, however, that State Police had received information from Boston that the machine was registered to a Somerville man.

Today, a Boston American reporter checked at the man's Somerville address and talked to relatives. They pictured him as a good-looking youth, just 21, who had been living with them recently.

A spokesman said he had packed his bags two weeks ago and announced he was leaving Somerville for good. He departed in his automobile, a convertible.

This spokesman stated further that the youth as a boy usually went to the "lakes in New Hampshire for the summer." Quizzed on what was meant by "the lakes" the spokesman said she could not remember just where his family had taken him.

All efforts to trace Higgins after he left Ashland station here at 6:30 last night failed. A telephone call to his Philadelphia home disclosed he had not reached there. His wife said she had received no communication from him for two or three days.

DIVER AT WORK

At the same time, Fred Wallace, Somerville, Mass., diver, today began systematic diving operations at the lake, starting at a spot 60 yards off shore where draggers had picked up pieces of cloth a few days ago.

Later, he will tour the lake bottom in a wide triangular sweep—even though investigators now feel certain that Squam lake never will yield the body of the missing girl. The continued operation was begun at Straw's insistence so that no stone be left unturned in the hunt for his foster-daughter.

Storm Floods Bring Heavy Hub Area Property Damage

Municipal authorities and power companies in Massachusetts today listed damage running into thousands of dollars in the aftermath of a torrential downpour and electrical storm which stalled all forms of transportation and touched off at least one serious fire.

Railroad trains, buses, street cars and automobiles were stalled, lightning struck in a score of places and the steamer Nantasket was disabled in the lower harbor for nearly two hours while winds howled at 60 miles an hour and a full inch of rain fell.

The Nantasket broke down between Rainsford and Long islands at the height of the storm but was able to proceed under her own power again just as tugs reached her side. During the long wait, 108 passengers sought shelter inside the vessel as the crew hurried repairs. Before they were finished the Nantasket had dragged anchor at least 200 yards. She arrived at Nantasket about two hours late.

$20,000 FIRE DAMAGE

Most serious fire occurred in the Germantown section of Quincy where lightning and fire caused $20,000 damage to the Sailor's Snug Harbor. Destroyed in the fire were three cows, a horse and 30 tons of hay, as well as a large barn which adjoins the main building.

Many persons almost miraculously escaped death when lightning struck. At Gloucester, Frederick Daggett, 23, a World War II veteran, was felled by a bolt on Centennial ave., near his home.

Though he showed no burns or other marks of the lightning, he said had rendered him unconscious, he was sent to Addison Gilbert Hospital for observation.

More than 300 phones went out of commission when lightning struck a power line in the Cape Ann region. Four houses also were struck.

Fifteen persons were driven out of a Broadway, Everett, apartment house when lightning struck the roof and cracked it open in three places. Water poured down through the seams and all occupants fled.

Mrs. Robert Clough, occupant of a third floor apartment was shopping at the time but when she returned and realized her narrow escape she became hysterical. She was attended by Dr. Herbert Abkowitz, a physician who owns the house.

Indirectly as the result of the storm, Michael Sicuranza, 12, of Chelsea st., East Boston, was seriously injured while walking on Washington st. near Milk st. with his mother, Mildred.

A boy walking near him slipped on the wet sidewalk and fell against the plate glass window of a clothing store. He dislodged a large pane of glass which fell on the walk and was shattered.

Pieces of it cut the Sicuranza boy on the arms and shoulders. He was removed to City Hospital. Doctors said he had lost a large quantity of blood, but his name is not on the danger list.

In West Medford, Arlington, Waltham, Newton and Needham, bolts struck either chimneys or power lines, causing temporary damage to the latter. No fires resulted.

BOLT STUNS WOMAN

Three houses were struck in the vicinity of Quincy and one, belonging to L. Richard Burdakin, on Davis st., No. Quincy, was set afire. The flames followed the light wires into the cellar and set fire to the coal. Damage was $1600.

A second home hit was that of Rossell O. Ward, on Homer rd., Merrymount. His wife, Gertrude, reported sparks showered an upstairs room and partly stunned her.

The home of Mrs. Alina F. Bridges, on Pine st., Milton, was also the target of a bolt. She is the mother of U. S. Senator F. Styles Bridges, of New Hampshire. Mrs. Bridges is away at her summer home in West Pembroke, Me.

Blood Bath Waited In Palestine After 3 Irgunists Hang

By BEN FELLER

JERUSALEM, July 29 (INS)—Three youthful Jewish extremists were hanged at dawn today, and within a matter of hours British troops opened a record-breaking manhunt for two sergeants whom the underground threatened to hang in retaliation.

The triple execution was carried out in Acre prison courtyard three hours after the Jewish underground made a desperate but vain attempt to liberate the doomed men by attacking the fort's outskirts. The attackers were repulsed without injury to the British.

All troops were warned that Irgun Zvai Leumi may attempt to kidnap other hostages, and were urged to be particularly alert since the resistance organization had threatened that the streets would flow with British blood if the youthful extremists were hanged.

Observers expressed belief, meanwhile, that the Palestine government may empower the army to destroy any property used for extremist activities. They recalled that during the years of 1936 to 1939 entire villages were razed to combat terrorism.

A 22-vehicle convoy removed the bodies of the hanged youths to Safed, after all British police and troops were evacuated from that northeastern Palestine town.

Only a detachment of Jewish police remained in Safed, where the bodies were buried in the presence of the entire Jewish community.

Chief Rabbi Abraham Channa, who visited the three youths in their cells shortly before the execution, said all were "cheerful to the last."

In the attempt to liberate the doomed extremists, a number of armed Jewish underground fighters attacked a concrete pillbox guarding one of the main approaches to the Acre Prison.

Three hours later, the three doomed Irgunists—Meyer Nakar, Jacob Weiss, and Absalom Habib—mounted the stairs of the gallows in the prison's courtyard. They ranged in age from 20 to 23.

Jewish Prisoners Refuse to Quit Ship

MARSEILLES, July 29 (INS) — Unauthorized Jewish immigrants who were returned to France from Palestine reportedly refused today to disembark from a British ferry vessel anchored off Port du Bouc.

Unconfirmed accounts said they told a French official who boarded the ship:

"We want to go to Palestine. We won't debark here unless we are dead."

Low-Flying Crash Costs $50 Fine

In the first case of its kind at West Roxbury court, Alexander Gremaglia, 22, of Hillcrest ave., Dedham, a student pilot, was fined $50 by Judge Daniel Casey today for low flying, climaxed when his plane crashed in a Roslindale back yard June 15 and he was hospitalized.

Gramaglia pleaded guilty to operating an airplane at an unlawful altitude and failing to file his federal student's permit with the Massachusetts Aeronautics Commission.

Judge Casey filed the second charge.

Neighbor Held In Attack on 8-Yr.-Old Girl

Dennis J. Healey, 31, of Center st., West Roxbury, pleaded not guilty in West Roxbury district court today to a charge of assault with intent to rape his 8-year-old neighbor, Dorothy Cransten, attacked by a bedroom prowler early Sunday during the absence of her parents.

At the request of Sgt. Herbert Dwyer of the West Roxbury station, Judge Daniel J. Casey continued the case until Monday for hearing and ordered Healey held in $5000 with surety.

Healey, arraigned on a complaint listing him as "John Doe, also known as Dennis Healey," likewise was charged with breaking and entering in the night time and larceny of a watch. After he pleaded not guilty Judge Casey continued this charge to Monday in $500 bail.

The child was not in court today and Sgt. Dwyer explained she was under care of a physician, running a high temperature.

Although charged with larceny of a watch, property of the child's father, which was removed from a dresser by the bedroom prowler before he carried the child to the rear yard of her home, police admitted they had not yet recovered it.

Java Hit by Fires Of Scorched Earth

By STANLEY SWINTON

IN A DUTCH WARPLANE OVER REPUBLICAN JAVA, July 29 (AP)—The threatened scorched earth policy of the Indonesian Republic is a flaming reality today over a huge par of southwest Java, one of the richest areas of this island.

Hundreds of fires are crackling across the ridged, green hills between Wijnkoops Bay and Tasikmalaja, more than 12 miles to the East.

From the glass nose of this B-25 reconnaissance plane, I have been looking across Republican territory in the cut off tip of West Java during the past four hours. Most of the time, Lt. Nol Van Der Veen, pilot from the Hague who was trained during the war at Jackson, Miss., kept the plane flying lower than 100 feet.

RUBBER MILL AFIRE

I have seen at least three rubber estates ablaze. On others, the grey trunked rubber trees have been cut down and lie in a crazy tangle on the ground.

Scores of other fires are burning in what crew members told me were tea and quinine growing areas.

I quit counting after seeing more than 200 fires.

Dozens of fires which cast their pall of smoke over hundreds of square miles seemed to have been set without logical reason, just the scorched earth for the scorched earth's sake. It was apparent that many were racing across brush areas of no economic importance.

Others were normal burnings of rice straw expected at this season, and I made allowances for these. But far more important was the obvious large scale destruction of estates.

Rarely over an area where flames were burning did I see human beings during this first complete flight by a reporter across west Java. There was no sign of battles and no bullets menaced us.

BUFFALO STAMPEDE

Twice we saw field artillery pieces standing below at Dutch road blocks. Once I saw a Republican gun on a road. But there was no Republican infantry—only fingers of flame scrabbling up the hillsides and across groves of rubber trees.

We fled across alternating green and brown paddy fields with their crazy quilt pattern of dikes, water buffalo stampeded in frightened awkward lurchings.

BEER CAN BULLSEYE

OMAHA, July 29 (AP)—A fisherman annoyed by a DDT-spraying plane flying low over nearby Carter lake, downed the plane—by heaving a beer can into its propeller.

Pilot Larry Anderson of Kansas City had no trouble landing the plane at the nearby Omaha municipal airport, but repair of the propeller "cost us five hours flying," H. A. Herschfield of Aerial Crop Service said.

Mrs. Ingalls Faces Slave Case Sentence

SAN DIEGO, Cal., July 29 (AP)—Mrs. Alfred Wesley Ingalls, held in the San Diego County Jail since July 19 when she was convicted of enslaving Dora Jones, her Negro maid, will be sentenced in federal court today. The maximum penalty is five years' imprisonment, a $5000 fine, or both.

A decision as to whether the government will retry Mrs. Ingalls' husband, 64-year-old attorney and former Massachusetts lawmaker, will be left to a decision of U. S. Atty. Gen. Clark in Washington.

Amherst Tells How to Halt Blight of Tomatoes, Potatoes

Alarmed that the disastrous late blight of tomatoes and potatoes of last year would be repeated this year—and weeks earlier—caused the Univeristy of Massachusetts today to rush emergency instructions to growers to save their crops.

"My hunch is that late blight of tomatoes and potatoes will strike earlier than it did in the disastrous season of 1946 when it did not strike until mid-August," O. C. Boyd, plant pathologist at the university, said.

With the disease already found on potatoes in Bristol County in mid-July and on tomatoes in Worcester County Juuly 23, he said the weather—plus the efforts of growers to protect their crops would determine the strength of the epidemic this year.

Here are control measures he recommends:

1—Kill all "voluntetr" potate and tomato plants.

2—Apply a copptr dust every 6 or 7 days while the air is quiet and the plants damp with dew, or a copper spray every 8 to 10 days throughout the season, starting immediately.

"You can recognize the disease by these characteristics," Boyd said: "Large greenish-brown water-soaked spots on leaves, stems and fruits at all stages of growth. The leaves have white cottony mildew on under surface.

"But don't wait until you see the symptoms. Once the disease starts, it is impossible to check it."

Montgomery Going Home, Slash of Armed Forces Seen

LONDON, July 29 (AP)—Authoritative sources said today that Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery would curtail his Far Eastern tour immediately and return to Britain to discuss slashing the nation's armed forces in view of the economic crisis.

Montgomery, Chief of the British Imperial General Staff, was to have gone to Tokyo to visit Gen. Douglas MacArthur Aug. 5. He left Britain June 21, and has spent most of his time in Australia and New Zealand.

Whitehall sources said Montgomery was returning on his own initiative because of the increasingly serious view taken in high government quarters of the industrial and financial crisis stemming in part from the rapid dwindling of the American loan.

The acute need for greater production, stressed last week-end by leaders of all major political parties, may well mean that Britain's armed forces have to be cut to provide more men for coal mines and factories, official quarters said.

Montgomery, they explained, will be on hand to advise the government what cuts can be made without endangering Britain's defense position.

The war office, expected to issue a statement later today on Montgomery's unexpected return, announced recently that the number of men and women in the British army, navy and air forces on June 30 was 1,297,300.

Reduction of this figure has long been urged by left-wing Labor party critics of Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevins' policies, but the government, backed solidly by the Conservatives, has delayed the step in view of the world situation.

Today's indication that the cut is being considered now came amid such other "crisis" signs as a fall in prices on London security exchanges, an all-out government effort to boost coal production, and persistent talk of a possible government shakeup.

Prime Minister Attlee held an unheralded meeting with senior cabinet members last night, presumably to discuss the economic situation, and tomorrow he is scheduled to address a closed meeting of all Labor members of Parliament.

Many Labor MPs, as well as a large segment of the Conservative and non-partisan press, are urging Attlee to give "stronger" leadership and to warn the public to cut their low living standard still lower.

The majority of the press has accused the government of letting the country "drift."

Mock Murder Trial Due on Radio Here

With a man's life or death in the balance, a thrilling mock murder trial, with a vast audience of spectators and radio listeners acting as the jury and as sole arbiters of his fate, will be held in Symphony Hall on Wednesday night, Aug. 13, following the first week's run of "The Long Night," at the RKO Memorial Theater here.

On Aug. 6, this powerful film drama of a young man driven desperate by both love and hate will also open in more than 338 other theaters throughout New England and northern New York state.

Tickets for this mock trial go on sale tomorrow at Symphony Hall, priced from $1 to $3, and all proceeds will be turned over to the Children's Hospital of Boston.

The presentation, rivaling a major Hollywood premiere, will include movies of both spectators and performers, and flood lights illuminating the streets adjacent to Symphony Hall.

The trial will be broadcast for a full hour from 8 to 9 p. m., on Aug. 13, over the Yankee network.

Defendant at the trial will be the tragedy-ridden hero of the film, played by Guy Madison, popular young screen star. The role on the screen is played by Henry Fonda, who is prevented by Hollywood commitments from being here. The heroine, "Jo-Ann," will be played by Jacqueline White, replacing Barbara Bel Geddes, who is star of the film. Ann Dvorak will reenact her own film role in the colorful part of the night club entertainer.

Two noted criminal lawyers will participate in this unique and realistic mock trial. Atty. Herbert Callahan, Boston's famed lawyer who recently, in an actual trial, attained freedom for his young client, Charles Russell Goodale of Onset, who was acquitted on a first degree murder charge, will represent the defendant.

Judge Thomas J. Courtney of Chicago, noted for his routing of the infamous Capone gang and for his aid in bringing about the capture of the gun-toting bandit John Dillinger, will be the prosecutor.

The name of the presiding judge will be announced later, and the great audience itself will be jurors to deliver the ultimate verdict of "guilty" or "not guilty."

The film is produced by Robert and Raymond Hakim and directed by Anatol Litvak.

Waban Girl, Killed, 8 Injured in Crashes

A 19-year-old Waban girl was dead today and eight other persons were injured, two seriously, in auto accidents at Conway, N. H., Topsfield and Arlington.

Miss Nancy Pope Davis, Nehoiden rd., Waban, died in North Conway Memorial Hospital from injuries suffered when the car she and two girls companions were riding in was struck by a Boston-bound train at the village crossing.

In the same hospital in critical condition was Alice Hess, 18, Philadelphia, Pa. The third girl, Dorothy H. Driscoll, Northampton, escaped with minor injuries. All three, counselors at a White Mountain camp, were hurled from the car in the impact.

Most seriously injured of three persons when their car crashed into the rear of a truck on the Newburyport turnpike at Topsfield was Gertrude G. Wade, 21, Lake st., Middleton. Twenty stitches were taken to close head cuts and doctors said she suffered a possible skull fracture.

Wih her were Frances Brophy, 31, Danvers State Hospital nurse, who also suffered a possible skull fracture and head cuts, and Everett F. Pitcher, 70, Pearl st., Somerville, with minor injuries. All three were taken to Lynn Hospital for treatment.

Three more persons were injured when a car driven by Rudolph J. Christenson, 29, Wilson rd., Bedford, blew a tire in Mystic ave., Arlington, near the Winchester line, caromed off three trees and crashed into a fourth.

Christenson suffered cuts of the knee and head bruises. Marcia Rankin, 22, Washington st., Dorchester, received deep cuts on the right leg. Robert V. Brooking, 57, Humboldt ave., Roxbury, suffered a cut on the right eye and possible fractures of the right leg and right ankle. They were taken to Symmes Arlington Hospital.

Meanwhile, Ladderman John J. Walsh, 26, Church st., Dorchester, injured in the crash of a fire truck and street car in East Boston Sunday, was still in critical condition at City Hospital with multiple fractures. In good condition was Ladderman William Walsh, 26, Leroy st., Dorchester, also injured in the accident.

CBS Head Weds Barbara Cushing

MANHASSET, N. Y., July 29 (AP)—With only members of the two families present, Mrs. Barbara Cushing Mortimer and William S. Paley, chairman of the board of the Columbia Broadcasting System, were married yesterday at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Harvey W. Cushing.

The bride, daughter of the late Dr. Cushing, noted Boston brain specialist, is a sister of Mrs. Vincent Astor and Mrs. John Hay Whitney. Her marriage to Stanley G. Mortimer, Jr., ended in divorce in May, 1946. They were married in September, 1940.

Paley and the former Dorothy Hart Paley, whom he married in 1932, were divorced last week in Reno.

George Curley Slightly Better

George Curley, the mayor's son, was reported to be "slightly improved" today at Cohasset Hospital, where he was operated upon for blood clots Friday.

Dr. Edward H. Schott, who issued the bulletin, added the comment, "but he is still a very sick boy."

Meanwhile it was reported Mayor Curley, who was allowed t oleave the Danbury, Ct., federal prison for a brief visit to his son Saturday, has expressed confidence he would soon be pardoned by Prisedent Truman from serving his 6-to-18-month sentence for mail fraud.

Love at First Sight; Bride 94, Groom 73

DETROIT, July 29 (AP)—A case of "love at first sight" at a square dance 17 years ago will reach its logical conclusion Saturday when Ellen Anderson O'Brien Jones Davis, 94, weds William H. van Asperen, 73.

The elderly pair, who have five previous marriages between them, obtained a waiver of the five-day waiting period.

INDICTED IN SHOOTING

Disabled Vets Win Boost In Income

WASHINGTON, July 29—Disabled veterans learned they had won a bipartisan victory in the dying minutes of Congress early Sunday.

So quietly that it went unnoticed, the Senate passed H. R. 3008 to increase incomes of many of the war disabled attending school and college under provisions of Public Law 16.

The bill increases minimum allowance and compensation payments for veterans with 30 per cent disability as follows: Single, $105 to $115; married, $115 to $135; one child, $10 to $20, an additional child, $7 to $15.

Link Dynamite To Death Blast

SANTA ANA, Cal., July 29 (AP)—Through the testimony of an arsenal operator, Ben Smith of Highlands, Cal., the State set out today to establish that George Gollum purchased dynamite for experimental purposes before an explosion wrecked the yacht of the wealthy Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Overell, March 15.

Gollum, 21, and his college sweetheart, heiress Louise Overell, 18, are on trial charged with bludgeoning her parents, then dynamiting their yacht, the Mary E., in Newport Harbor.

Prosecutor Eugene D. Williams said Smith, also a night jailer at San Bernardino, was summoned to testify about receipts for dynamite he sold. Smih was to be followed to the stand by L. A. Hill, a salesman for the Trojan Powder Co., of Chatsworth, Cal. The State contends that 50 sticks of dynamite sold by Hill March 14 were used to blast the yacht.

Sheriff's Capt. Tom McGaff testified he found a receipt for dynamite and instructions on how to use it inside a camera taken from Gollum's automobile. The receipt signed by the purchaser, bore the name "R. L. Standish."

Trap Dog Survivor Of Bikini Blast

WASHINGTON, July 29 (AP)—The Navy finally has captured the wild dog of Bikini, roaming the island since the atomic bomb explosion last summer.

Captured in a hamo-bone baited trap, the dog appeared in good condition on its diet of crabs, clams, and other food picked up on the island.

She will come to the United States aboard the Navy's scientific resurvey laboratory ship, the U. S. S. Chilton, to join Pig 311 and a goat, two other survivors of the Bikini A-bomb blast, the Navy said today.

Year's U. S. Spanding Seen Near 37 Billion

WASHINGTON, July 29 (AP)—Administration budget experts said today that despite congressional buts, Federal spending this fiscal year would run fairly close to the $37,500,000,000 estimate outlined by President Truman last January.

Analysts said the main reason for this is that Congress voted a number of appropriations—chiefly for foreign aid—which were not figured in when Mr. Truman drafted his budget estimates.

Heiress

earlier have been sent to the State Police laboratory at Concord and a report on whether or not they are pieces of a bathing suit are expected today or tomorrow.

One thing was certain today—the distraught Straw family will close up their summer camp at Squam Lake and return to their Manchester home Thursday.

Sgt. Currier said the family had decided to go home that day, whether Anne still is missing, whether her body is found or whether she has been located in some part of the country.

The report of Holyoke, Mass., police that a girl answering Anne's description was not the missing heiress, was received with sadness by her foster father, who had held high hopes his daughter would be located there.

"Don't ask me to give up hope on such reports," Straw told reporters and Sgt. Currier.

Mrs. Straw and myself are always hoping. We have that much left. I don't know what to think now. We get so many reports of her being seen. And then others seem sure she's out there somewhere in the lake. We don't know what to believe." At this the elderly banker broke down completely and wept for several minutes.

Investigators are not overlooking the fact that Anne bought a flashlight in Plymouth the day she disappeared, and this despite the fact there were seven flashlights at the Straw summer home.

When her mother questioned her about this action, the girl was quoted as replying: "I wanted one of my own in case I had to get up in the night and use it."

This Anne did—that very night. The flashlight found on a rock near the shores of the lake—its battery burned out — has been identified by Robert Rand of the Rand hardware store at Plymouth as the one Anne purchased.

$46,000 Bail In Kidnap Robbery

FALL RIVER, July 29—Louis Senay, Lonsdale st., and Kenneth Murphy, living in a hotel here, arraigned in the kidnap-robbery of a cafe manager and a taxi driver, were held in $46,000 bail each for the November session of the grand jury. Both pleaded not guilty to kidnapping Arthur Doyle, 50, Dairyland Cafe manager, and Edward Santos, 28, the cab driver, and robbing Doyle of $370 at gunpoint, larceny of the cab and carrying a gun without a permit.

A third man is being sought. All three wore handkerchief masks.

Police said they found three guns and half the stolen money in Senay's home.

Santos said he had driven Doyle to his Hafford st. home when the three masked men demanded Doyle give them $5000.

"We were tipped off you had $5000," one of the bandits told Doyle.

tain Army generals were going to run me out of town."

He added:

"We were brushed off from mass-producing cargo planes and left with a mere experimental contract for Howard Hughes to design and build three planes."

That contract later was cut down to one plane, now near the test stage after an outlay of more than $18,000,000.

BALANCE CANCELLED

Grover Loening, a former aircraft adviser to WPB Chairman Donald Nelson, testified yesterday the remaining contract was ordered cancelled early in 1944, but the cancellation was revoked. Loening said he did not know who took the action.

Both Loening and Merrill C. Meigs, former chief of WPB's aircraft division, said they knew of nothing unusual or corrupt about the award of the cargo plane contract although both said they had disapproved it.

Loening stated:

"I never encountered any pressure from the White House."

When the questioning turned to published reports that ranking officials were entertained lavishly at parties given by John Meyer, publicity man for Hughes, Loening read to the committee from his pencilled notes:

"I never used the courtesy of Mr. Meyer as I had my own girl friends in Hollywood with which to pass those necessary relaxing moments that any normal man should do to keep a good sane balance on his health and his work."

HUGHES DEFENSE

At a Los Angeles news conference yesterday, Hughes said his "purpose in entertaining the government officials was to give them the same treatment as other aviation companies and thus keep in a competitive position."

Insisting that "all the parties in question occurred after the contract for the flying boat was signed," Hughes added:

"Why don't they investigate all aircraft companies?

"I was assured that this investigation would be an investigation of entertainment of government officials by the aviation industry, but that was wrong. It seems to be an investigation of the Hughes Company alone."

Truman Tired, Quits Bier For Capital

GRANDVIEW, Mo., July 29 (AP)—Tired and a little drawn, President Truman prepared to return to the White House today, leaving his mother in a flower-laden grave shaded by trees from the hot Missouri sun.

The presidential plane was readied for an 11 a. m., EST take-off for Washington, where a pile of legislation, crowded through in the closing days of Congress, awaited Mr. Truman's consideration.

Mrs. Martha Ellen Truman, 94, who said her son could "do anything just a little better than anyone else," was buried yesterday in Forest Hill Cemetery at Kansas City, beside the unmarked grave of the President's father, John A. Truman.

The President and his family sat in the kitchen of her little house in Grandview and others filled the dining room and parlor, while the Rev. Welbern Bowman, a near neighbor, read a simple, 20-minute funeral service. There was no eulogy because, he said, "she would not have wanted a eulogy."

The vitality of the President was sapped by his sorrow.

He admitted to friends that he was "tired," and those who saw him while the last rites were recited over the casket said that tense facial lines "really showed his grief."

Brest Still Counts Toll in Harbor Blast

BREST, France, July 29 (INS)—Many of Brest's 80,000 residents who fled in panic last night when a nitrate-laden freighter exploded in the harbor, killing between 14 and 20 persons and injuring hundreds of others, straggled back into the ravaged city today. Estimates of the injured ranged from 500 to 1100.

The destruction which greeted them rivaled that visited upon the Breton port during the war.

Mayor Jules Eugene Lullien estimated that not a single building in the city and its suburbs was undamaged by the series of explosions and fires touched off by the blast aboard the Norwegian vessel "The Ocean Liberty."

The 63-year-old official, after visiting provisional hospitals set up when the main one was destroyed, said it was "difficult" to assay completely the losses from the tragedy which for a time threatened a repetition of the Texas City, Tex., disaster last spring.

So extensive was the destruction wrought that Lullien estimated that gas and electric service could not be restored "for several months."

Much of the damage was caused by fire which swept through the flimsy wooden structures erected as the city tried to recoup from its wartime battering.

Brest Blast Ship Loaded at U. S. Port

BALTIMORE, July 29 (AP)—The Norwegian freighter Ocean Liberty, which caught fire and exploded just outside the Brest, France, harbor, took on more than 3000 tons of ammonium nitrate fertilizer here early this month, Douglas Wise, vice-president of the Terminal Shipping Co., announced.

Golfer Killed in Auto Crash Fleeing Police

NORTHAMPTON, July 29 (AP)—Anthony S. Cehura, 30, well known amateur golfer, was killed today when his auto left the highway and crashed into a pole, police said, during a mile-a-minute chase.

Police Chief George J. Bernier said Cehura failed to negotiate a curve while trying to elude policeman in a cruising car.

Sidney Conrad Will Leaves Bulk to Widow

The will of the late Sidney Conrad, Boston department store owner, filed today in Suffolk Probate Court, provides, after several bequests, that his widow, Mrs. Anna M. Conrad of Arlington st., Back Bay, receive four-fifths of the income from the residue.

Nn bond was filed to indicate the size of the estate.

The remaining one-fifth of the income is to go to his daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Conrad Silberman of Foster st., Cambridge.

Named as executors and trustees were David E. Moeser, Judge Jacob J. Kaplan and Arthur E. Whittemore.

The will provides that Mrs. Conrad shall receive "all the wedding gifts received by me on the occasion of my marriage to her and all the articles of wear and household furnishings."

In recognition of "long and faithful service in my employment" bequests of $500 each were left to Thomas E. McGrath and Elizabeth V. Downes.

The sum of $100 each was left to Moeser and an employe, B. J. Shaughness.

The will provides that on the death of his widow, $1800 a year for life is to be paid to his sister, Mary McNicoll.

Upon the death of both widow and daughter, $2500 is to be given ot the Salvation Army, $5000 to the Free Hospital for Women in Brookline and the remainder of the estate then divided equally among surviving members of the family or their issue.

4 Firemen Hurt, 25 Flee Blaze

One fireman was in critical condition at City Hospital and three of his mates under treatment for smoke inhalation today following a fire which drove 25 persons from a three-story wooden duplex house in Seaver st., Dorchester.

William Cole, 47, Bernard st., Dorchester, the most seriously injured, was found unconscious and carried from the building by his mates. He suffered multiple injuries, including a possible spine fracture.

Others overcome in battling the blaze in heavy smoke are Arthur Wright, 41, of Edna st.; Joseph Cady, 34, of Juliette st., and Joseph Kennedy, 22, of Train st., all of Dorchester.

Members of six families fled the building after a blaze, which is believed to have started in the cellar, sent smoke billowing through all floors above. Officials estimated damage at $2500.

Bathing Suited Blonde Sought

WESTPORT, July 29—A 20-year-old blonde was sought today after she vanished mysteriously from Horse Neck Beach, leaving her clothing in a locker at Plante's Pavillion.

Police investigated when the woman failed to return a bathing suit she hired or claim her clothing. The latter consisted of a white silk blouse, light blue skirt and sandals.

Found with the clothing was an eyeglass case marked "Brooklyn, N. Y.," a man's wrist watch and a pocketbook containing $2.60.

44 News Tips Prizes Awarded

An astounded North End woman took a second look at the gift chicken sent her from an upstate farm to make sure she was seeeing aright—then reached for the telephone to call the News Tip Editor at Liberty 4000.

The result: A freak picture of a four-legged chicken—and a $3 award to the North End woman in the Record-American-Advertiser $50 weekly News Tip Contest.

Sharing top honors in the weekly contest were two other tips which also won $3 awards. One went to a Roxbury man for his tip on the luckless romance of a sailor who posted $500 for his intended bride's entry into the U. S. here—only to have her vanish. The other went to a South Boston man for a tip on an auto crash involving a police car, which injured seven and wrecked the basement of a South Boston house.

Seven $2 awards and 27 $1 awards completed the weekly distribution of news tip prizes.

Seek Youth's Body Lost in Avalanche

VANCOUVER, B. C., July 29 (AP)—Four young U. S mountain climbers, camped high on the icy slopes of 13,260-foot Mt. Waddington, prepared today to bring out the body of a companion killed July 22 in an avalanche believed started by a minor earthquake.

The victim, Charles Shiverick of Cleveland, was one of four who had reached 9500 feet when ice and snow swept down. Shiverick died of punctured lungs, and Bud King of Cambridge, Mass., suffered a dislocated shoulder.

William Putnam, Springfield, Mass., said the four who would recover their companion's body were David Michael, Athens, Ga.; Graham athews, Seattle; Francis P. Magoun, Cambridge, ass.; and W. Lawrence Miner, New London, Ct.

House to Continue Five Fund Probes

WASHINGTON, July 29 (AP)—The House expenditures committee, looking to its investigating laurels, is figuring on running four or five inquiries while Congress is on vacation.

Chairman Hoffman (R.) of Michigan, told a reporter these will cover government propaganda, disposal of war surpluses, the federal power commission, use of federal buildings and possibly efficiency in the State Dept.

Man Held in Shooting Death of Ex-Bostonian

BALTIMORE, July 29 (AP)—William C. Port, 25, laundry worker, was held without bail today for grand jury action on a charge of shooting and causing the death of ship Capt. Harry A. Anderson.

Anderson, who came here from Boston eight years ago, died after being shot in the stomach outside a tavern. Coast Guardsmen testified they saw the two men fighting on the street.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN
Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Chin Must Be Hair-Free

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE, Beauty and Fashion Editor

COME FALL AND YOU'RE going to be a chin-up girl . . . for the profile look is the look of the season, your face as well as your figure. High-riding collars, trumpet-fashion, are back to put the head on a pedestal . . . the pedestal of a beautiful throat column.

However, we are not concerning ourselves today with your throat-line (we'll come to that at a later date) . . . but with your chin-line. Does it have little hairs . . . like so many blades of grass . . . jutting out? Is your chin covered with shadowy down that makes it look like a man's evening shadow which calls for a shave?

These new and flattering collars demand a smooth, hirsute-free chin for they accent unwanted bristles on the chin and upper lip. Defuzzing the facial fuzz now becomes important . . . if you haven't thought so all along. No more can you hide your chin in your chest because you're ashamed of the cat-like hairs which stick out on your chin and upper lip. Now they must come off.

NO CUTS, INFECTIONS

There's really no difficulty in keeping these two areas of the face clean and hair-free . . . not if you let the spinach-like darkness succumb . . . and quickly . . . to the special formula of a facial disc that erases hair easily and safely.

With this rosy disc . . . specially treated for facial use . . . there is no danger of cuts or infection . . . no bristly feeling . . . no risk of rash or irritation. After its use . . . the skin feels as smooth as a baby's skin and just as clean. A few rotations to the left and then a few rapid whirls in the opposite direction obliterates the hirsute as completely as an eraser wipes away a pencil mistake on a paper.

Of course, it never was ladylike and fastidious to promenade in the best of finery while pointed dark hairs promenaded over the chin and upper lip. Nor is there a more annoying sight than to watch a gal finger her pseudo beard in public . . . although we appreciate the magnetism such hirsute has for itching and roving fingers.

OFF LIMBS, TOO

Nor can we understand the psychology of a girl's mind which permits her to don the sheerest of hose over limbs covered with a hedge-thick growth of visible superfluous hair. Yet she'll do it every time . . . with brazen disregard for the amenities of good-grooming.

With nylons at their sheerest . . . smooth limbs are as essential as a hair-free and smooth chin and upper lip. This is a feminine problem which can not . . . must not . . . be denied. The creators of this facial disc have also evolved a larger disc to remove ugly stubble from the limbs. One can not be used for the other purpose. Each is true to its own.

So whether that unattractive hirsute is on your chin and upper lip . . . or on your legs . . . remove it in the ultra-modern way with a rosy, specially-treated erasing disc.

For the name of this hair erasing disc, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, daily except week-end, or write to me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

YOU WOULD, TOO, lift your head and tilt it back as proudly as Rita Hayworth is doing if you knew that there wasn't a trace of shadowy down to mar the lustrous loveliness of its marble-like smoothness. Come fall you must be a chin-up girl . . . what with the new and acclaimed profile look the season's best . . . and there must be no cat-like hairs jutting out to cut your beauty down.

Introducing Her Sister-in-Law

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN: A few of my neighbors and I are giving a stork shower for another neighbor, and my sister-in-law (my brother's wife) who has just moved here and doesn't know any of my neighbors, is going to the shower. How should I introduce her? F.

If your neighbors know your brother, your introduction might be, "Mrs. Carter, this is Tom's wife." If they don't know your brother and if you are married (thus her surname differing from yours), you may say, "Mrs. Norton, this is my brother's wife . . . Mrs. Wells." Either of these introductions avoids the "in-law" introduction, but of course it is proper for you to say, if you wish, "Mrs. Brown, this is my sister-in-law, adding her surname if necessary.

New Sleeve Treatment

By EILEEN CALLAHAN

THE FASHION spotlight turns to sleeves. In all the excitement about lowering hemlines, widening skirts and dropping shoulders, sleeves may have been momentarily unnoticed, but they haven't been forgotten.

There is no one story to tell about the kinds of sleeves; they aren't all straight, or all puffed, or all caped, or all anything. But the story of sleeves in general lies in the fact that there is no hard and fast fashion rule for them. What shape they take depends entirely on what the lines of the dress call for. The draping of a bodice, for instance, may take an extra swirl to become a sleeve.

Notable sleeves give contrast to the dress designed by Paul Parnes and sketched today. The dress is of black crepe, draped to one side in a wide flange. The cream-colored sleeves are heavily encrusted with jet embroidery. The shoulder line of the dress is winged.

It's Potato Salad Time

By MARTHA LEE

Household Editor

POTATOES are an all-year round food, but come summertime, they strip off their jackets and come to the table in the cool guise of a refreshing salad.

There are about as many ways of preparing potato salad as there are ingredients in cookery. Some like it just plain, sliced boiled potatoes soaked in vinegar, salt, and pepper for a few minutes and then mixed with salad oil and parsley. But some like it garnished with everything from hard-boiled eggs to celery, cucumbers, carrots, or what have you.

Whichever school you belong to, serve it often for cool, hot weather eating. Here are several variations to experiment with:

POTATO SALADS

6 medium-sized potatoes
¼ cup vinegar
Salt and pepper
¼ cup green pepper, diced
1 medium-sized onion, minced or sliced
¼ cup salad oil
Parsley

Boil potatoes in their jackets, peel and cut in thin slices. Add vinegar, salt and pepper. Let stand about 15 minutes. Add green pepper, onion and salad oil. Sprinkle with minced parsley if desired. Season to taste. Serve on crisp lettuce. Makes 6 servings.

TWO

6 cups cold boiled potatoes
1 chopped onion
1 pimiento, diced
1 cup diced cucumbers, or
½ cup diced pickles
¼ cup French dressing
Cooked salad dressing or mayonnaise

Slice or dice potatoes, add onion, pimiento, cucumbers or pickles, mix with French dressing, which should be well seasoned, and let stand in refrigerator 1 to 2 hours. Mix with cooked salad dressing or mayonnaise, serve on lettuce and garnish with parsley. Makes 6 servings. (Celery, cut in cubes, or celery seed may be used with other ingredients, if desired. Minced parsley may replace the pimiento.)

3 cups diced, hot potatoes
3 hot, hard-boiled eggs, chopped
½ cup diced cucumbers
½ cup diced celery
2 tbsp. minced onion
1 tsp. salt 2 tbsp. sugar
Dash of pepper 2 tbsp. vinegar
½ cup mayonnaise or cooked salad dressing

Mix thoroughly and chill; sugar may be omitted, and one of several of the following vegetables may be substituted for cucumbers or celery, or both: diced radishes, chopped cabbage, minced pimientos, chopped green peppers or chopped sweet pickles. Makes 6 servings.

POTATO-BACON SALAD

4 cups diced, hot potatoes
8 slices crisp bacon, crumbled
12 stuffed olives, chopped
1 pimiento, chopped
2 tbsp. chopped chives
½ cup French dressing

Mix thoroughly and let stand until cold. Serve in salad bowl lined with salad leaves, if desired. Makes 6 servings.

HOT POTATO SALAD RING

Boil 6 medium-sized potatoes in their skins; peel and dice into salad bowl rubbed with garlic. Add ½ cup minced celery, 5 small onion, minced, 1 green pepper, minced, and 1 cup hot cooked sour cream dressing, and mix thoroughly. Season to taste and arrange, ring shape, on large chop plate. In center of ring, serve a tomato sauce made by cooking until thick 1 1-3 cups canned tomatoes, 1 onion, minced, 1 tsp. minced chives, ¼ tsp. salt and a dash of paprika. Makes 6 servings.

POTATO AND SARDINE SALAD

8 flaked sardines
2 cups diced potato
1 small onion, diced
2 tbsp. chopped parsley
2 tbsp. chopped dill pickle

Mix all ingredients with French dressing and serve.

A NEW EDITION of a seasonal fashion must is this Bruno tweed suit . . . and for extra elegance, the matching handbag. In brown and taffy cross-barred wool . . . the suit has rounded, but trim lines . . . a nipped waistline and circular skirt (long, you'll note) . . . higher riding collar, turned up trumpet-fashion . . . and buttons hidden under squares of the fabric. This is one of Bruno's acclaimed numbers from his collection for Spectator Sports.

Smart Set Plan Flower Show

By BETTY ALDEN

NOTES FROM a Society Editor's Cuff: Mr. and Mrs. Jack Stanley of Rye, N. Y., formerly of Cambridge, have been house guesting with the Robert M. P. Kennards at Blueberry Hill, Chesham, N. H., both families enjoying a pleasant round of beach picnics, water sports and blueberrying. Jack Stanley is a well known radio actor whose voice you hear in numerous programs originating in New York.

Mrs. James O. Bangs

Mrs. John Shillito of Chestnut Hill, in town from Duxbury for the day, looked cool and pretty in a black background printed silk suit as she lunched at Joseph's. Her summer home at Powder Point is an attractive Cape Cod cottage originally built on a cranberry bog and moved in sections to its present location on the ocean front when it was remodelled some years ago. It is named Shillaura, a contraction of Mrs. Shillito's first name, Laura, and last.

The bride and groom, Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Plimpton, Jr., of Brookline, are back from their honeymoon and were entertained at dinner recently at the Hotel Somerset Terrace by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Plimpton. The pretty blonde bride, who was Elizabeth Stine of New York, wore a striking printed silk suit in tan and green tones, with off-shoulder neckline and long fitted sleeves.

Twin daughters were born July 21 to Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Laurence Blanchard of Pittsfield, N. H., at Massachusetts Memorial Hospital of which their maternal grandfather, Dr. Charles A. Powell, of Brookline, is assistant superintendent.

A FLOWER SHOW in which youngsters up to 16 are invited to enter arrangements of flowers in their favorite animal containers, will be the unique feature of the Nahant Garden Club children's day Thursday. Punch and Judy shows, a magician, balloon man and pony rides will also be features to entertain the small fry.

Mrs. Chester McLaughlin and Mrs. Donald Bee are running the show with the assistance of Mrs. James O. Bangs, Mrs. Edward Butterworth, Mrs. Wallace Haley, Mrs. Richard Roland, Mrs. George Weld and Mrs. J. T. Wilson.

The youthful flower show exhibitors will also compete in a class of flower arrangement suggesting the title of a child's book.

MRS. KENNETH P. CRAFTS, Mrs. Clifford H. Stockwell, Mrs. Bertram H. Harrison and Mrs. Richard H. Davis are among many theater goers planning to see Joyce Van Patten, 13-year-old Broadway star, in "Dear Ruth" which opens this evening at the Wellesley Summer Theater. The new theater venture in Alumnae Hall on the scenic Wellesley campus, is a popular mecca for local theater fans on hot summer nights. Joyce made her theatrical debut here in "Tomorrow the World" and will start her own radio program in the fall based on theatric strip character Penny.

Mrs. Mrs. L. Everett Johnson, Mrs. Fred M. Sexton, Miss Mabel A Raymond, Mrs. Alma D. Morley Mrs. Granville Fuller, Mrs. Edward Babcock, Miss Margaret Linard and Miss Mabel Cummgs are others with reservations for "Dear Ruth."

OFF ON a wedding trip to Canada are the newlywed Mr and Mrs. Charles Nichols Blanchard, who were married Saturday afternoon at the First Congregational Church, Searsport, Me. The bride is the former Mildred Marr, daughter of Mrs. Harold Everett Marr and the late Col. Marr. The groom's parents are Capt. and Mrs. Scott Blanchard of Brooklyn, N. Y. and Searsport.

Mrs. Blanchard is a graduate of Wheelock College and has been on the faculty of Mary Wheeler School for two years. Her bridegroom graduated from Massanutten Military Academy and attended the University of Maine. He served three years in the army attaining the rank of captain. He is in business in New York where the couple will reside.

THIEVERY IN ROMANIA

THE REMOVAL of more than one million dollars worth of American-owned oil machinery from Romania by Russian occupation forces—in circumstances suggesting and justifying the charge of thievery—has brought one more American effort to appease Russia to the dead end of futility.

At the same time we are asking about Russian intentions in the case of the stolen Romanian oil machinery, the Russian government is pressing for delivery of eighteen million dollars worth of American industrial equipment, mostly oil machinery.

While the American Congress has refused to authorize this delivery, the American State Department supports the Russian petition contending that the equipment represents the still undelivered tag-end of the old Lend-Lease program and that America ought to live up to its commitment despite the clear record of Russian bad faith.

The case of the pilfered Romanian oil machinery should be utilized by Congressional committees, since the State Department lacks the spine to do so, to disabuse the Russian government of its confidence in our dumbness.

One of the agreements reached at the Potsdam Conference had the purpose of determining the rightful ownership of the property.

A Russian-American commission was set up for the fulfillment of that purpose.

But instead of awaiting determination of title by the commission, THE RUSSIANS SIMPLY SEIZED AND WALKED OFF WITH THE PROPERTY.

Congress has proved itself far more alert to the realities of this situation than the State Department.

It is to be hoped Congress will, when it reconvenes, adhere to its prohibition of further appeasement of Russia in American industrial markets.

Only thus will Russia become eventually persuaded that it will have to show good faith in its international relations in order to enjoy the good opinion of America and all other members of the family of nations.

BEST DRESSED

A WOMAN LIKES to be told that she is "chic" and "smart," and for that logical reason, Mrs. Max Mollard, a leading Australian fashion authority, now touring America, should be generally and indisputably popular in Boston.

According to Mrs. Mollard, the women of Boston have better taste and look lovelier than women in other American cities—New York, Chicago, Washington and Hollywood not excepted.

"The women of Boston do not dress conservatively," she says, "but what they do with clothes is amazing. I have never seen so many women well dressed and groomed."

We can imagine how pleasantly surprised Mrs. Mollard must have been to find our fair city exuding feminine charm. Thanks to the activities of various novel writers and motion picture producers, the ordinary Australian has the pardonably erroneous idea that Boston looks something like Queen Victoria's diamond jubilee and that its lady inhabitants, young and old, have a persistent and perpetual fondness for crinoline, bustles and sunshades.

It would be worth while for women's clubs and societies, with the support of the Chamber of Commerce and other promotional organizations, to fight this malicious libel on their city and on themselves, and force the writers and producers to be truthful, no matter how adhorrent that state is to them.

We have a matchless climate, with four distinct and unique seasons. We have the finest textile mills in the world. We have art schools of wide reputation. In point of fact, we have all the ingredients needed to make Boston the Paris of the New World, in which fashions will be produced as well as paraded.

There would be an immense amount of satisfaction in this achievement, not to mention several hundred thousand new jobs and [illegible]k accounts.

On the Side

By R. V. Darling

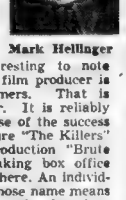
A little while 'twas given
For me to have your love,
Now, like a ghost, alone I move,
Above a ruined heaven.
A little time for laughter,
A little time to sing,
A little time to kiss and cling
And no more kissing after.
But long, long years to weep in,
And comprehend the whole,
Great grief that desolates the soul
And eternity to sleep in.
—PHILIP BOURKE MARSTON

IN WHAT SECTION of the nation is life made the most difficult for drunk drivers? A Californian claims it is in the town of Oceanside in his state. Officiating in most traffic cases there is Judge D. A. Parsons. This Nemesis of inebriated motorists has the following schedule of penalties: First offense, $125 fine, two days in jail; second, $250 fine and four days in jail; third $375 fine and six days in jail; fourth, $500 fine and eight days in jail. Judge Parsons, my informant states, plays no favorites. Women are penalized the same as men. In fact a woman recently served an eight-day jail term in Oceanside for habitually motoring while under the influence of strong drink.

PLEASE NOTE: Bill Brandt the film theater chain owner, recently stated the names of Hollywood stars were not drawing the coin to the box office as formerly. Nowadays, said Bill, what the fan wants to know about a film is not who's in it, but what's in it. It is, therefore, interesting to note the name of a film producer is drawing customers. That is Mark Hellinger. It is reliably reported because of the success of Mark's picture "The Killers" his current production "Brute Force" is breaking box office records everywhere. An individual producer whose name means anything to the film fans is a distinct rarity nowadays. There hasn't been an outstanding one since the days of D. W. Griffith.



Mark Hellinger

COLLECTION: My sporting print collection is off to a good start. My girl friend has just presented me with a rare print of the thoroughbred Moses, Winner of the Epsom Derby in 1822. I now have my eye on a print showing Proctor Knott winning the Sheepshead Bay futurity in 1888. That was one race Salvator didn't win. The print shows Ella Wheeler Wilcox's idol finishing second. The price of this print is terrific. But I am saving up for it.

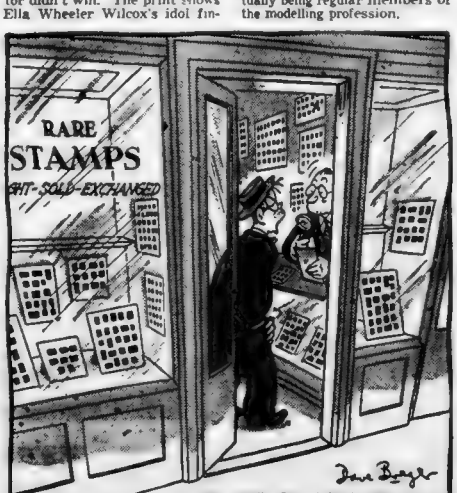
RECORD: What is the world record for length of a marriage. How about 80 years? That's how long Mr. and Mrs. John Henkel, of Quebec, Canada, have been married. Mr. and Mrs. Henkel were married in Brooklyn, N. Y. It was Oliver Hereford who said: "Into each life some Brooklyn must fall."

SIDELIGHTS—The D'Oyle Carte Gilbert & Sullivan Opera Company of London, is coming to New York in the fall. I'll be at their performances practically every night. My favorite Gilbert & Sullivan opera is "Patience."

ASIDES: Note a beautiful young widow referred to as 'a relict." Of course, that does mean "a widow," but I don't like the term. It is an ugly word... "The city where everybody has a job." I once suggested all the smaller cities strive to achieve the right to use this slogan. Now I note Richland, Wash., population 15,000, has done that very thing. Every employable person in Richland is employed. Congratulations!

BABY SITTERS: The baby sitters are going to unionize. Being a baby sitter is certainly a highly responsible job. It should be a well paid one. Incidentally, I know of a woman who has a dog sitter. This is necessary because when his folks go out this dog not only barks but goes into such a rage at being left behind he starts tearing the apartment apart. Our dog remains quiet when left at home. However, he spares no details to make himself comfortable. The other night when we returned he was sleeping in my bed with his head resting on the pillow and the covers pulled over him. A remarkable animal.

MODELS: An unusual number of young women involved in legal difficulties, both civil and criminal, state their occupations as "models." That many of these females are regularly occupied as models is open to question. In any event, the real models find the situation distressing. They say it is giving the occupation of model a bad name. The fact is about 85 per cent of the models of Manhattan are highly respectable married women and mothers. There are advertising models, artists models, dress models, hand models, leg models and even eye models. That makes a lot of models. Seems the models should organize and enable the real McCoy models to have registration cards indicating their actually being regular members of the modelling profession.



"Two threes, one post card, an' a $15 money order, please!"

THESE DAYS

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Copyright, 1947, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

NOT ONLY has President Truman declined to give the American people relief from high taxes, but the government continues to collect additional taxes. The most interesting and unjust is the payroll tax, euphemistically called "The Federal Unemployment Tax."

George E. Sokolsky

I call attention to an interesting pamphlet on this subject issued by the "Research Council for Economic Security" of Chicago. It tells the fact that since 1936 the collection of this tax has amounted to $1,276,611,000. The expenditures amounted to $509,579,000.

The excess of collections over expenditures amounts to $767,032,000. In other words, the Treasury of the United States earned a profit larger than the state and federal expenditures. The payroll tax is good business for the government. It is a hardship upon the American people.

The pamphlet to which I refer says:

"During this period of 1937-1946, expenditures have not been quite 40 per cent of tax collections, with a consequent excess of the latter over expenditures of about three-quarters of a billion dollars. The war years of 1942 to 1945 accounted for 50 per cent of the total excess. Moreover, during the fiscal years 1945-1945, the War Manpower Commission spent $22,100,000 for employment security functions, part of which should be assigned as a cost of administration for unemployment compensation."

THE ADMINISTRATION of this tax is complicated and comes high. This phase of the problem needs full congressional investigation, so that the administration may be made more efficient and more equitable.

Furthermore, Congress ought to decide on the policy of the government earning a profit on social security. It was intended that this tax be used as a type of government insurance to protect the worker against the perils of unemployment. It was never intended to be an additional tax to enrich the Treasury by an indirect means.

This is simply a tax on payrolls, with certain returns to individuals under circumstances of unemployment. Apparently the amount collected is more than twice the amount needed for the purposes of the act.

After an experience of 10 years, it is possible to accept it as a fact that if this tax were cut in half, the Treasury would have ample funds to meet its obligations under the act.

Why, therefore, should not the tax be reduced? What argument can be produced in favor of retaining the present rate which is only an additional tax on our people?

Furthermore, why persist in a complicated administration? The pamphlet describes the cumbersome arrangements as follows:

"First, the employer pays the .3 per cent tax (after credit allowed) to the United States Collector of Internal Revenue as an excise tax; eventually the collections rest in the Federal Treasury.

"Second, Congress makes appropriations to the several states.

"Third, the Treasurer of the United States pays these grants to the various states within which the collections under the tax levy were made in the first place.

"Finally, the state unemployment compensation systems spend these grants for administrative expenses—and are thus spending monies raised by federal taxes.

"It should be remembered that employers also pay unemployment taxes to the states, which means that they are subject to dual reporting and payment of taxes for this one purpose."

MANY PROPOSALS have been made to solve this problem which affects so many American citizens. The solutions are as involved as the act itself.

What is required is a full study of the problem by Congress with a view toward revising the entire system. Politicians seem to be unwilling to touch the subject; yet it requires correction. The whole proposition is unfair to all parties to it. It is unfair because it is only an additional tax. It is only another way of collecting more taxes.

Harry Truman vetoed every measure to give the American people relief from enormous taxation which makes the government extravagant, raises prices and siphons off from each individual's private savings amounts which heretofore in American life were used for the development of new business.

Men improved their lives and built their families not upon government grants and doles, but on their savings. Any additional tax on individuals or on industry is harmful to the country, when it is burdensome, inequitable, cumbersome—it harms America.

Hollywood

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, July 29—I don't know when I've been more intrigued than when I heard that Otto Preminger has obtained the stage rights to Pearl Buck's "Pavilion of Women" and that when he produces it on Broadway—Gertrude Lawrence will probably star.

Gertrude Lawrence

If you could bet on sure-fire winners in the winter book on shows as you can on the nags, my money would certainly be on this!

It is in Otto's contract with 20th Century-Fox that he can produce and direct a couple of stage plays and nothing has interested him as much as this fascinating saga of the proud Chinese woman who rules her family through intellect and charm—but who knows love only through heartbreak. Can't you just see Lawrence in this?

P. S. Let me add quickly, Otto's rights to "Pavilion of Women" does not include the screen version—but his stage effort certainly should give him the inside track.

WHEN VERONICA LAKE was unhappy in her private life, and sporting that peek-a-boo hair-do in public, she was in the public prints constantly. Now she's happily married to Andre de Toth and settled down, we don't read nearly so much about her. But don't think she isn't doing all right.

Ronnie has just signed a new deal with Paramount calling for one movie a year and the rest of the time she can pick and choose. One of the stories she would like to choose is "Born Yesterday"—which may interest Garson Kanin inasmuch as Betty Hutton can't do it.

THE SWEDISH STAR Marta Toren, recently signed by Universal-International, is going to have practically the same treatment that was given Hedy Lamarr when she arrived in Hollywood.

Miss Toren will be co-starred with Tony Martin in "Casbah," a remake of "Algiers," Hedy's first American picture. It was "Algiers" that put Lamarr on the map as a star and had the whole country talking about her.

Pretty good psychology on the part of William Goetz to do the same with the Toren girl, who is still unknown, as Walter Wanger did with Hedy.

WITH AL PARKER given carte blanche to make a deal for James Mason in the movies, it's not surprising that Al has been having conferences with Mary Pickford whose house guest he has been. He has discussed "The Unloved," to be made with Mason in England.

Mason, I believe, could make a picture in England and not wait for the Rose lawsuit to be settled. Of course, I'm not sure about that, but I believe it would be much easier. At any rate, Mary has a hot idea and she has sold it to Al Parker, who, in turn, should have little trouble in selling it to Mason.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: There's been a lot of talk that Gene Tierney is getting extremely difficult and beginning to believe her own publicity. I had heard that she refused to do "Chicken Every Sunday," but Darryl Zanuck tells me that it's been indefinitely postponed and Gene is due back next month. So far, he says, he has no story for her.

If Gene wants to take advice from me—and I don't suppose she does—she'll listen to Darryl Zanuck. He certainly built her into an important star.

I CAN'T REMEMBER when George Brent was at MGM, if ever, so it was interesting news that he has signed a contract there. Who makes more pictures than George? Usually he does his acting for independent producers, but now he's set for "Luxury Liner" to co-star with Frances Gifford.

He has the role that was originally given to Walter Pidgeon, but Walter was taken out to co-star with Greer Garson.

I hear right from the horse's mouth (pardon my slang) that Fredric March has been set to play "Thomas Jefferson, the Patriot" at Warners. That is the role that Freddie probably doesn't want to turn down, although I understand he has turned down many offers from Hollywood. Having won the academy award last year, he can pick and choose.

Well, whether you like Freddie or don't like him, you have to say he could always pick and choose his roles. He is a good actor.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD collected at random: Talk is that Milton Bren and Ed Lasker, who formed a partnership with Lasker's money, are not as friendly as they were at one time. 'Course it may all be talk.

Bruce Cabot has just bought himself a yacht. Why Brucie—and I never knew you were rich!

Barton MacLane and his wife have both been very ill with ptomaine poisoning.

Sir Audrey Smith is the pride of London. Well over 80, he takes a daily horseback ride around the park with his granddaughter. He's also the pride of a lot of us in Hollywood who love him.

Helena Carter has spun around to Sid Luft. It was bound to happen.

Fredric March

Andrea King and her husband have started a club among the younger married couples in Hollywood, and are calling it the Golden Wedding Club. They want to prove that Hollywood marriages do last. Well, many of them do.

Paul Muni, who owns the script of "The Life of Nobel," is having it adapted for the stage.

The success of Constance Collier in London is pleasing, greatly, all her Hollywood friends. She's been wined and dined by the best of them.

Dane Clark, who is now definitely separated from his wife, opens at Princeton the week of Aug. 4 in "One Sunday Afternoon." That's the same play Warners made with Rita Hayworth and it was called "Strawberry Blonde."

The Dan Daileys expect their baby in the next few weeks.

Mrs. John Lund, who has been very ill with a strep throat, is up and around again.

George Holland

Boston After Dark

THE NATIONWIDE SWING FROM "SWING" bands to "sweet" has been so sharp that hardly a handful of "hot" bands are working today . . . Woody Herman saw the trend, and disbanded . . . Woody had won numerous "best" awards for playing "hot" in 1945-'46 . . . Frankie Carle should be the No. 1 orchestra of the fall and winter, and—if we are in good forecasting form—the new male vocalist, Mel Torme, is heralded as a solid threat to Perry Como and Bing Crosby.

FRANK SINATRA'S popularity has declined acutely, although his loyal fan clubs will protest that it isn't so . . . Frankie's horde of original bobby-soxers seem to have ceased swooning at the feet of their idol . . . Frankie's originals are young matrons now, and busy with their own affairs . . . Their kid sisters do not seem to be quite so hysterical . . . Giving The Voice our yearly once-over-lightly, Sinatra's sudden blossoming as a "thinker" and his worthy campaigns for tolerance and against juvenile delinquency apparently have cloaked him with a new personality . . . His determination to play the priest in "Miracle of the Bells" disclosed another and equally serious facet of the Sinatra demeanor . . . Our Frankie, in short, has graduated from the boyish, romantic glamor-boy groove which made him so enticing to the adolescents.

IT DID NOT help him greatly—as we look back a year—to have press and radio chatterers commenting on the corrugated road the Sinatra domestic affairs for a time were following . . . The bobby-soxers of 1946 and 1947 probably did not lament the alleged rift between Frankie and the Missus (although we recall stories about Sinatra fans pleading with him by placard to "go back to your wife and baby") . . . But the publicity did keep reminding the girls that The Voice was a married man and a father, and not the callow, mystical, and needs-to-be-mothered type he appeared to be when he first gripped the imagination of the country's kids . . . In this capsule review of The Voice we have contributed our annual summer sizeup of what seems to be what with Frankie . . . It has been this column's bemused opinion that nothing like Frankie has ever appeared on the American scene . . . We intend to follow his amazing career to its climax . . . But at infrequent intervals, dear readers.

MIDSUMMER'S SEASONAL placidity in Boston is ruffled by the presence of some distinguished characters . . . Bill Corum is here for tomorrow's Massachusetts Handicap, and found a ready-made subject for a story at the Suffolk Downs' Paddock Club in Ted Williams, the most electric current personality in baseball . . . Ted the Kid and his brunette, olive-skinned wife, were watching the races in the company of Fred Corcoran, The Kid's manager, and Ted's chum, a state policeman whose name we missed in the introductions . . . Ted's fans can be reassured that The Wondrous Splinter's attendance at the horse races bodes nothing of ill augur to his career as the hardest hammerer of a baseball in the business . . . The Kid bets modestly and for the fun of it and will never become a horse-player . . . The way he takes horse racing (the ideal way, they say) is as relaxation.

AS FOR MR. CORUM, it will be good news to his legion of readers and listeners to learn that he is in the prime of health and the best of spirits . . . A shindig was scheduled for Bill at the Algonquin Club, and he exchanged greetings with Boston newspapermen . . . Boston is close to the Corum heart . . . This city probably ranks as runner-up to New York, where Bill works as the favorite sports-essayist of a million-odd readers, in his affections.

LUCILLE BALL also is in our midst, and we hope to be talking with her, at some length, today . . . Vic Ghezzi, the topflight golfer, and Charles Ritz, son of Caesar Ritz, founder of the internationally renowned Ritz-Carlton string of hotels, and Martha Scott, who made her bow to fame in "Our Town" at the Wilbur Theater a dozen years ago, are others on the visiting list . . . So is Mrs. Ben Bernie, widow of the mourned "Ol' Maestro" . . . Mrs. Bernie motored to the Cape today in an effort to find an August habitat near Hyannis . . . A gracious lady, she will make a fine neighbor.

WASHINGTON, July 29—Down in the Ozarks, where the myrtle doth entwine and hound dogs and catfish are registered on the voters' lists four Short boys married four Long girls. From one of these unions was born Rep. Dewey Short, "The educated hillbilly."

Mr. Short, who informs everybody he hails from Lapland, and then explains he means the pastoral region where Arkansas laps over Missouri, carries out the short motif to the ultimate. He has the second shortest biography in the Congressional Record. A brief five and a fraction words. Reading:

"Dewey Short, Republican, of Galena, Mo."

"For first place honors in brevity he is beaten only by a technicality. The representative from Georgia's third district drops out the "of," making his biography in full read: "Stephen Pace, Democrat, Americus, Ga."

These are in somewhat sharp contrast to other biographies in the babbling book. Notably that of the retiring solon from Mississippi's first district, John Elliott Rankin. Mr. Rankin uses up 364 words to tell about himself. Interpolating such electrifying lines as, "He has adopted as his slogan 'Let's electrify every farm home in America at rates the people can afford to pay.'"

Dewey Short does not even give his age, although in conversation he is the first to bring it up. He was born April 7, 1898.

"That's how I got my first name," he explains. "The day they christened me, Dewey took Manila."

(Dixon's note: This is not the same Dewey who is causing a current stinkeroo by offering to give New York's 50,000 Communists to Montana).

THE SHORTS and the Longs are the first two families of Galena, and if anybody argues different he had better be prepared to fight against overpowering odds because they represent a large chunk of the populace—a teeming 508 according to the village vital statistician, Mrs. Helen Pauly, who also happens to be Rep. Short's sister.

Dewey Short prepared himself for Congress by taking up public speech-making at the age of ten. He recalls, modestly, that he was known as the "Boy Orator of the Ozarks."

"I was born squallin'" he adds, "and I've been squallin' ever since."

He has such pungency of expression that he draws congressmen out of the cloakrooms, even away from visiting contituents, when he speaks.

He likes to hear his voice in its pure, unadulterated form, unmarred by mechanical contrivances. He told his confreres on one occasion that "speaking through a microphone is like kissing a pretty girl through a screen door."

The salty Mr. Short is one of the most extensively-educated men in Congress. He studied successively at Galena Public School, Galena High, Marionville College, Baker University, Boston University, Harvard Law School and at Heidelberg and Oxford. Although graduating from Harvard Law he never got to be a lawyer. Instead he was ordained in the Methodist ministry.

HE WAS SERVING as pastor of a church in Springfield, Mo., previous to coming to Congress in 1932. Despite all this—and I wish to be as circumspect as possible—he is not pointed to with pride by the Methodist Board of Temperance. In fact one of his favorite tricks is to leave his empty bottles outside the door of a certain prohibitionist colleague.

Copyright, 1947, King Features Synd., Inc

"But, dear, the only time I enjoy doing nothing is when I have something to do!"

This poor, bedevilled dry has been driven almost insane from finding so many dead men outside his arid portal.

Mr. Short's favorite bit of Ozarks history concerns his grandmother, Lydia Elizabeth Short. The time was 86 years ago, during the Civil War battle of Dug Spring.

Grandpa Short was a guide with the Union forces. One night two men rode up to his house and asked to be directed to the Union lines. Unsuspectingly, Grandpa Short approached them. They grabbed him, and Grandpa was getting decidedly the worst of it when one assailant suddenly quit the struggle, and the second tore off down the road.

Grandpa then discovered why the first man had quit struggling. Grandma had come up behind and chopped off his head with an axe.

THIS STARTED OUT to be a short piece about the Shorts and Longs but it seems to have become a long piece about the Longs and Shorts, so if you think the stuff is too long about the Shorts or too short about the Longs you can read the part about the Longs and make short work of the part about the Shorts and—

Keep away with that axe, Grandma.

Q—Where can I get information on culinary herbs and medicinal herbs?

A—Suggest you send to the Herb Society of America at Horticultural Hall, Boston, for their booklet on herbs and their sources. This booklet is available for about 10 cents.

Q—Can evergreens be planted in the fall?

A—Late summer and fall are the best times to plant evergreens. Plant from August until the ground freezes.

Q—I have tried several times to get a new section of lawn started, but the weeds have choked out the grass.

A—If land is very weedy, I suggest that you wait until September before sowing grass seed. Grass will do better in the cook weather, and any of the annual weeds that start will be killed back by the first frost. Then the grass can get established.

Q—Our pole beans are developing spots on the leaves. Is this trouble common on pole beans?

A—This acts like the symptoms of bean rust, a disease to which pole beans are susceptible. Never work or harvest beans when vines are wet, as this spreads the disease. Burn old vine in the fall and spray poles with bordeaux mixture or use new poles to eliminate trouble next year.

Q—Can radishes be stored over winter like other root crops?

A—Not the ordinary varieties. The variety Black Spanish, if planted early in August, will grow late in to the fall, and can then be stored.

Q—The tops or growing points of most of our pepper plants seem to be dying, although side shoots are coming good. Was this caused by too much fertilizer?

A—Look for stalk borers, which often attack peppers. Cut back the tip and destroy the borers. Plants will come along without serious damage.

THERE'S A MAN OUT IN FRONT LOOKING OVER THIS HOUSE... ...IN HE RINGS THE BELL AND ASKS FOR ME TELL HIM YOU GONE TO AFGHANISTAN ON A DIPLOMATIC MISSION!... ...I'M SURE HE WANTS TO SERVE ME WITH PAPERS TO APPEAR IN DESTOR'S COURT

ATOMIC CONTRACT LET

NEW YORK, July 29 (AP)—A contract for building the first atomic energy pile to be built in peace time, at the Brookhaven National Laboratory at Brookhaven, Long Island, has been let to the H. K. Ferguson Co., the New York office of the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission announced.

Van in Cross Country Talk

Interrupted during the shooting of "Virtuous," Metro picture now in production in which he is starred with June Allyson, Van Johnson yesterday collaborated with local film reviewers in a trans-continental interview.

If you, like some of us, had built up a rather cloying picture of this bobby-soxers' dreamboat as the American Glad-Boy with a sugar-coated vocabulary and a great welcome for himself, prepare to revise that notion.

Johnson has a robustious, warm and exuberant personality that spans a continent's length of telephone-wire like it was an inter-office call. There are no lugs about him, and he'll tell you a double did the better part of the big fight in "The Romance of Rosy Ridge" as readily as he'll give you the time of day in California.

The imminent showing of the Van Johnson-starring "Romance of Rosy Ridge," . . . it opens Thursday on Loew's twin screens, . . . was the occasion for the Boston-to-Hollywood telephone call.

It is by such quaint dodges that press agents whet the film public's interest in forthcoming productions.

After an excuse-it-please call, based on a miscalculation of Pacific time at this end, and an exchange of pleasantries including some hearty boxoffice grosses between Metro's Hollywood and the local Loew's press agents, the main bout began.

In a vitamin-rich voice that ricocheted around the room in volume that cancelled out any need for the loudspeaker, Johnson waxed boyishly voluble about everything from the raspberry jam he "bled" in one of his pictures to his $75-a-week job here with Buster West.

About his expectant fatherhood and the customary question, he "just hopes it's a baby. If it's twins, and there's some likelihood, I want two boys."

In any event, there will be special jubilation in Newport, R. I., where the popular film star's father, Charles E. Johnson, continues to live "one the other side of the tracks."

Lucille as 2d-Ball-of-Fire

By PEGGY DOYLE

Technicolor's Aurora Borealis herself in person, not a motion picture, amazed the rialto last night and, to the amazement, doubtless, of those of you not represented in the Shubert Theater's capacity audience, it was not her traffic-stopping color scheme that turned the trick.

She would be Lucille Ball, who gave the local theater season an early start last night when she opened a two-week engagement in "Dream Girl," the Elmer Rice play in which Betty Field created the title role.

Now Miss Ball's talents as a screen comedienne are celebrated, although it was not until the advent of Technicolor and the retouch assist Lucille gave nature that the followers of the cinema were given the opportunity to discover her.

This is by way of saying that she sprang a second Ball-of-fire surprise in her return to the footlights. Meeting head-on a role that is as big as Hamlet's, Miss Ball reveals herself as a humorist of high character and a comedienne of considerable resourcefulness.

She has been preceded by an enthusiastic "press" from Marblehead, where she first took on "Dream Girl," and Detroit and Toronto, where she subsequently appeared in the Jules J. Leventhal production. Some allowance had been made for the notably generous tone of straw-hat criticism.

Last night, however, it became increasingly apparent that Miss Ball can hold her own on stage as well as screen, and that her rich talents for comedy are not likely to be exclusively confined to the cinema from now on.

For the first time in years of play-going, it seemed several times last evening that the one and only copyrighted Ethel Merman might one day have some genuine competition.

Miss Ball's bonfire-hair was her own idea but the way she sparks "Dream Girl" would seem to suggest that that flaming thatch is the natural topper for this fetchingly rounded stick of dynamite.

Many of the supporting players seen here in the original cast have rejoined the Lucille Ball-starring "Dream Girl" company for its current engagement and the New York subway circuit run to follow.

Scott McKay's glib newspaperman is one of the choicer characterizations that retains savor. Andrew Duggan's Jim Lucas, in stuffy contrast, points up Georgina's day-dreaming.

Ann Andrews, as Georgina's "Always Opal" reading mother, and Edward Forbes' father of Georgina are as skilled as ever. Hayden Rorke's wolfish George Hand is another first-rate performance, as is Mark Forbes' Luigi.

PERRY COMO, one of the hottest names in show business, is heading for the RKO Boston, where, on Thursday, he will begin a week's run as the stage headliner.

Small Time Bettor Smells Suspicion In Dog-Track Time

By AUSTEN LAKE

NOW AND AGAIN this corner of syrup and vinegar receives a Vox Pop letter which merits reprint. Like this one.

"Sir—I'm one of those two-buck gamblers—the little guy! And when our kind get lathered up, I say we should be listened to. When you wrote last summer about the chiseling gamblers who infest the ball parks, I was with you 100 per cent. You know, of course, that the same gang is still running their bet brokerage at Braves Field and Fenway Park, except they have moved their meeting spot higher in the pavilion—same crowd, same faces, same system, same protection.

"But that's not my gripe. I like to toss a few bucks to the dogs at Wonderland and have hitherto thought them strictly copacetic, a belief that I no longer hold. Give ear! Two weeks ago a dog named Amateur, with a mediocre record, paid a huge mutuel price in spectacular time. There was what you call a 'piscatorial aroma' or odor of stale fish about it, for the pooch never before and never since has approached that speed.

"AGAIN LAST WEEK ANOTHER hamburger named Hack Wagner, who wasn't closer than sixth in his last eight scampers, got a terrific 'wise money' play and slam-banged home at 3-1, also in abnormal time. Logically he should have been a super long shot at 15 or 20 to 1, but the wise word had gone out and the insiders went for the bundle. Of course, even a second rater might win once in a while, but when this kioodle makes time that would beat Lucky Pilot and Flashy Sir, then it's time to lift an eyebrow. July 22 Flashy Sir won at Raynham in 32 flat. Amateur's time was 31.4. Hack Wagner's was 31.3 and the great Lucky Pilot's average is 31:4. What do you make of that, Dr. Watson?

"Again July 21 the same thing happened when a dog named Jocular Jester won in 31.3 and was so exhausted at the finish that it had to be carried off the track. It ran like a maniac and burned itself out from sheer fury. Dear me, what am I insinuating?

"However, the ultra super pay off came July 22 in the eighth race when a hound called Northwestern received a heavy mutuel play although the newspaper handicappers hadn't given it mention and the program selectors failed to note it, since its printed record showed practically zero. Yet the kiyi was played down to 6-5, and paid 8-5, the price of a gilt-edged champion. And the way that dog whizzed out of the starting hutch, like a bat out of a bonfire, leaving the field as though tied to a leash. Northwestern's time was 31.3 on the tote, but the clock at the finish read 31.1. I was flush in front of it and know.

"So, in company with a majority of other small bettors, I ask WHAT GIVES? If I recall correctly when dog racing was legalized in Massachusetts there was a powerful antibody which objected to the undesirables connected with the sport, or business, elsewhere in the country. Up until recently there was no breath of scandal or unsavory hints around our dog saucers. Consensus among the trade was that dog racing, as run in this state, was as sanitary and four-square as any gambling device could be—the Jenny Pit, the character of the track executives, et cetera.

"BUT LATELY THERE HAVE been so many puzzling angles which don't fit with logic and the natural physical laws that people are talking. Don't mistake me for griper who has lost his shirt. I don't bet that kind of jack—just the few piasters that I can spare and for the fun involved. Nor am I one of those weisenheimers who claim to see and know all. Like most of my followship I'm just a plain Joe with enough native intelligence to know when things aren't jiving.

"I don't advocate revoking the dog track charters and throwing the game out of New England. But I do recommend a good, housewifely job of dusting, if not by the track owners, then by the State Commission or Legislature. Oblige the well-paid track officials to take off their sun glasses and look at obvious facts. You can't shrug off such unnatural timings as those I name. Who's doing what and how?

"Like every commercial venture which enjoys large profits without enough control, the tendency is to get fat, careless and bold. There is clear evidence that 'smart money' is operating in New England and that a clique of 'wise men' have invaded our tracks. It shouldn't be difficult to identify them or trace down the source of these 'hot tips' with a little honest detective work.

"The dog tracks don't have any blood or saliva tests as they do at the horse tracks, so there is no way to tell whether a hound has been 'dynamited' or 'cooled off.' The two-hour, pre-race quarantine in the Jenny Pit is supposed to insure against tampering. On the surface it should do just that, but when the smart boys are out to make a dollar, there's always a means of clipping the corners.

"One word more. Of course, Joes like me don't have to go to the dog tracks. There is no law obliging us to spend our lettuce on what you, at odd times, have called 'heart flutters' and 'stomach twitches.' That's our only out, and I, for one, am taking it until such time as somebody in authority weeds out the sharpshooters, whoever they may be, and explains why ordinary dogs who usually run for Sweeney suddenly attain the form and speed of champions and then go back to being flops again. That's all."

(Ed. note—This column adds no comment, casts no aspersions, makes no recriminations. The letter stands as an intelligent analysis and a reasonable appeal from the small dog wagerer.)

Rain-Stalled Play Resumed In Hearst N. E. Golf Test

By BILL GRIMES

The six second round matches of the Hearst New England Junior championship, which were suspended when a series of cloudbursts made the Woodland Golf Club course unplayable yesterday afternoon, resumed play this morning.

BILL ROBERTS
Resumes Match at 8th Tee

Before the storm hit Auburndale, Jackie Nies, United Shoe, the Bay State junior champion, had eliminated Earl Chase, Paskamansett 5 and 4 and Bernie Fauteux, Paskamansett, had knocked off Bill Palm, Jr., United Shoe. But, the rest of the first round survivors were washed out by the rain and ordered to return to the clubhouse.

Like the good troopers they are, the 12 players carried on until they were officially notified that play was suspended.

PLAY RESUMED

So this morning, Bill Roberts, The Orchards, and Jim Quinn, Kernwood, went to the eighth fairway to continue their battle to reach the quarter-finals. Quinn, who was one-up, dropped his ball in the rough below the hill and Roberts placed his in the fairway on the plateau.

After Roberts and Quinn reached the eighth green, Tom Mahan, Jr., United Shoe, who went one up by chipping into the cup at the long seventh, and Ralph Jenkins, New Bedford, drove from the eighth tee.

Dick Crosby, Albemarle, was 1 up on Ken Campbell, Wollaston, going to the seventh, and Bob Marchese, Country Club of Springfield was 1 up on Dick Costello, United Shoe just short of the sixth green.

Joe Grochmal, a 15-year-old youngster from the Springfield Memorial course, who beat Tom Hovey, Worcester Country Club, 2 and 1 in the opening round was all even with little Danny Magiera, W. Warwick, R. I., who reached the second round after a 22-hole battle with Charlie Adams, Wollaston, on the sixth tee, where they resumed play this a. m.

CARSON TRAILS

The sixth and final second round match between Don Hoenig, Putnam, Ct., and bespectacled Joe Carson, Furnace Brook, stopped after playing four holes with the Nutmeg Stater 2 up.

The quarter finals will be played this afternoon and as the competition is getting better with each round there will be four fine matches on tap.

Jackie Nies and Bernie Fauteux are idle this morning. The state junior title holder is waiting to meet the winner of the Joe Grochmal-Danny Magiera match and the New Bedford boy went out to watch Bill Roberts and Jim Quinn, who are just below him in the second quarter of the draw.

During the first round yesterday, the entire delegation from Worcester was wiped out. But, three of the matches went to the home green and the other was over after 17 holes. Tom Hovey lost a 2 and 1 match to Joe Grochmal.

Dick Marrone went out on the short end of a 1 up battle with Bill Palm, Jr., Paul Harney was a 1 down victim of Tom Mahan's and Dick Costello eliminated Herbie Soderman 1 up.

Prata Passes Up Rangeley Meet For National Test

The Rangeley Lakes, Inc., water carnival Friday and Saturday will attract the majority of the greatest swimming stars in New England. The only champion not entered is Joe Prata, Providence, who is on his way to Texas for the National outdoor championships."

The meet is another one of the many sponsored by the Record-American-Sunday Advertiser.

There will be competition in eight events. The four women's classes are the 100-yard backstroke, the 100-yard breast stroke and the 880-yard freestyle. The men will duel over the same distances.

The men's 100-yard freestyle race should be one of the finest of the entire program. Feature performer is Bob McGrath, current New England sprint sensation from Winchester. Bob startled the swimming world by trouncing Joe Prata at Lexington and then duplicating the feat at the Cape Codder meet.

TIME NOW FOR HAIR CONDITIONING

During the summer months we unconsciously subject our hair and scalps to a great deal of abuse. Vacations are a period of relaxation and enjoyment. The penalty for improper hair and scalp care, during that time, can result in excessive hair fall and a dry, itchy scalp laden with embarrassing dandruff.

Why pay such a penalty when we can offer you a sensible, proven method of hair and scalp hygiene? Come in today for an examination and consultation made without charge or obligation. No case is accepted unless we feel confident that we can help you.

The recommendations of the thousands of clients we have treated is the basis of our success. Come in today and learn more about hair conditioning.

N. E. FINALISTS—Dick Kowalski (left), Lawrence pitcher, John Rubinowski (right), Lynn Classical pitcher, Harry Agganis (upper middle), Lynn Classical first baseman, and Joe Barry (lower middle), Haverhill catcher, are among the New England sandlotters who faced the test today at Fenway Park for the two berths on the Hearst National sandlot baseball final which will be played at the Polo Grounds next month.

Hearst Sandlotters Play at Fens With Cronin, Boudreau on Bench

By JACK CONWAY, JR.

The climax of the second annual Record-American-Sunday Advertiser New England sandlot baseball championships was scheduled this afternoon about 4 o'clock at Fenway Park. Thirty of the greatest amateur performers throughout N. E. states were gathered together to compete for the two spots on the Hearst National team which plays 'n New York Aug. 13.

This N. E. championship was to be played as a co-feature to the regularly scheduled Red Sox-Cleveland Indians game. The major league contest was carded for its regular 2 p. m. starting time with usual prices prevailing. The sandlotters were to play immediately following the big league game and would be free to the public.

Red Sox officials have arranged to let fans enter park after the seventh inning of the big league contest.

NAME TEAMS AT GAME TIME

The sandlot game had a major league sparkle as Joe Cronin, Red Sox pilot, managed one team, and Lou Boudreau, Cleveland manager, directed the other team. Claude Davidson, N. E. League president, worked with Cronin. Bill Barrett, Red Sox Scout, aided Boudreau.

The Hearst sandlot team is the greatest group of amateur athletes ever assembled on any baseball diamond. They are stars selected from such localities as Nashua, Lawrence, Lynn, Boston, Somerville, Worcester, Providence, Pawtucket and Fall River.

The starting lineup of the two Hearst teams was to be named at game time. Managers of both teams were to start their strongest club. The group of 30 boys were split into two clubs of 15 each. Every boy was to be given a chance to display his ability.

IF IT SHOULD RAIN

In the event of rain, the Hearst N. E. sandlot baseball final will be played at Fenway Park Wednesday morning (10 a. m.). If in doubt, ballplayers are urged to call the Record-American, Liberty 4000.

Pitching was one of the strong points of the squad. There was John Rubinowski (9-0), who pitched Lynn Classical to the State title. There was Jack Bowles (8-0), who pitched Norwood to a brilliant season; there was Bobbie Mulrenan (6-1), star at Melrose, and five other equally good twirlers.

Joe Barry, who wants to go to Notre Dame, was down from Haverhill High to aid with the catching duties. Jim Wright was another catcher, also Jack Maroney, who has been catching Bowles all all season. Burt Freeman has been on the receiving end of Rubinowski's pitches.

First baseman Harry Agganis, Alec Norskey, Lou Gorman and Art Garrett are other well known players. Agganis has been All-Scholastic in football and baseball at Lynn Classical. Norskey has a batting average of over .400 for three years with Gardner High.

ALL-SCHOLASTIC FULLBACK

Louis Sarkisian, shortstop from Seekonk, looks and acts like Don Gutteridge of the Red Sox in the field. Charlie Ruddock, Lynn Classical, has hit over .300 for three years with Lynn English. Walter Keany, third baseman from Dedham, was an All-Scholastic fullback on Mike Gillooly's Boston American football team of 1946.

Outfielder Gene Driscoll, Jr., of Somerville, was All-Scholastic on every outfield in the city. Ed Garebidian, Whitinsville, hit .450 last year. The other outfielders are every bit as good.

Prolonged Sox Streak Would Worry Yankees

Sights were set at Fenway Park!

The firing was to get underway immediately with Fireball Bob Feller (12-8), the close range target of the Red Sox this afternoon and the sore-armed Yankees the main objective within two weeks time. For Feller, Mgr. Joe Cronin had Dennie Galehouse (6-4) ready this afternoon.

For the Yankees series, the Sox had ambitions of closing the existing gap—10 games—to a respectable separation that might be erased when the two clubs get together.

NOT IMPOSSIBLE

It's not an impossibility, as the members of the Sox clan will declare. There's no denying that there was some doubt in their numbers a week ago but now that their hitting has returned to last season's mighty calibre and the pitching has been somewhat adequate, the club is sparked for a spirited drive that could make the A. L. flag fight a stretch contest.

Even the most rabid Sox fans can hardly hope for a continuation of the happy week just completed, but at the same time the Yankee outlook is not too rosy. If the Sox could pick up another three games—as last week—in the next 12 days, the pressure of play would be transposed to the Yankee camp.

In the midst of the Sox 7-game winning streak moving into the Feller test today, Ted Williams' bashing batting had played the major role. Sunday, he racked up his 23rd home run of the season—one of his most prodigious—and one that boosted his RBI total to 71 for the season, the best mark in the league.

The most valuable player in the circuit last season, Williams' continuation of the torrid batting streak that has revived the Sox would put him right in line for a repetition for that crown. His .330 mark—a rise from below the .300 danger point at the time of the All-Star game—has been the result of a .420 clip in the past three weeks.

BEAT FELLER HERE

Add to Williams' power the comeback plate campaigning by Johnnie Pesky, Dom DiMaggio, Bobby Doerr and now even Murrell "Jake" Jones and it's easy to see that Feller will have his problems once again at unfriendly Fenway. Feller's last start in the Hub was a losing effort that found the Fireballer retiring with a complaint of a hitch in his arm.

FIELD OF 5 LOOMS TO OPPOSE STYMIE IN $50,000 MASS. HANDICAP AT SUFFOLK DOWNS

By DAVE WILSON

Barring the presence of Colonel Dave Egan in the role of an added starter, Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' fabulously wealthy Stymie will be faced by a field of five or less thoroughbreds in tomorrow's $50,000 Massachusetts Handicap at Suffolk Downs.

The starting field in the mile and a furlong test was further pared down yesterday by announcements that Talon and Prognosis were both definitely out of the feature.

On the grounds and listed as definite starters are William Helis' Elpis, 111; Mrs. E. H. Augustus' Blue Yonder, 111; and the Brookmeade Stable's Boss, 105.

Officially doubtful starters but expected to accept the issue are Dan F. Harrington's Weatherecock, 104, and John L. McKnight's Agrarian-U, 108.

Hirsch Jacobs, the brick-thatched trainer, was all smiles yesterday morning as he viewed his lady's Stymie in his final workout for the big race.

Stymie was literally pulling his regular exercise boy out of the saddle as he went a half in :48 and the three-quarters in 1:14. Clockers and horsemen who witnessed the workout estimated that the son of Equestrian could have shaded 1:11 if he had been let run.

Jacobs, who was extremely pleased with the manner in which Stymie performed in his workout, left by airplane for New York when he was satisfied that the world's leading money-winner had cooled out okay, but plans to be back in time to personally tighten the saddle girths on his star for the handicap.

Stymie, as usual, is to be ridden by Con McCreary who piloted the son of Equestrian to his victory in the $100,000 Gold Cup at Belmont Park July 19. Frankie Moon again will be up on Elpis. Chris Rodgers has again drawn the mount of Blue Yonder. Boss probably will be ridden by Con McCreery who Weathercock by Bobby Bauer and Agrarian-U by Fernando Fernandez.

Tomorrow will be a gala day at Suffolk. The management has hired Tony Bruno and a 50-piece band to liven up the occasion. It has also been promised that the noted screen stars Lucille Ball and Paul Muni will appear.

Ted Moves Up Ladder

NEW YORK, July 29 (AP)—Harry Walker, the dark horse for the National League batting championship, continued to pace his circuit's batters today with a mark of .348. He was joined by Lou Boudreau of the Cleveland Indians, who regained his American League batting lead with a mark of .341.

Walker, the Phillies' flychaser, who finished 1946 with a .257 average, made 10 hits in 27 times at bat during the past week through games of Sunday but lost seven points of his lead to runner-up Frank Gustine of Pittsburgh. Gustine, in the midst of a 20-game hitting streak, jumped his mark to .329.

Boudreau, despite the worries of a playing manager of a second-division club, came through with his 100th hit Sunday to climb four points during the week and wrest the lead from Joe DiMaggio of the Yankees, who fell to .338.

Both Boudreau and DiMaggio had a new rival for batting honors in Boston's Ted Williams, who climbed to .330 after a slow start. Following in line are George Kell, Detroit, .327; George McQuinn, New York, and Barney McCosky, Philadelphia, .313; Bob Dillinger, St. Louis, .310; Johnny Pesky, Boston, and Luke Appling, Chicago, .309; and Dick Wakefield, Detroit, .296.

Only six points behind Gustine in the National League is Walker Cooper, hard-hitting catcher of the Giants with .323. Cooper banged out 13 hits in 24 times at bat, a torrid .542 gait during the week's six games, adding 19 points to his average.

Johnny Mize of the Giants follows Cooper in fourth place with .318 and Boston's Tommy Holmes rounds out the first five with .313.

The leaders: (games through Sunday, July 27).

Fishing Luck Variable As Canal Stripers Sulk

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

"Scattered catches and slow fishing" are the general reports on the week-end's salt water sport, although there were exceptions in the cases of a few agile anglers . . . In the Buzzards Bay area, the stripers were striking in the Canal, Saturday night, but they began to sulk the following evening. Gus Selbitz of Quincy landed a 35-pounder, on squid, Saturday; while Bill Roman, of Three Rivers, took 11 fish, employing his eel-skin rig with rare skill.

Mackerel are numerous at the east end of the Canal, and some large tuna, weighing more than 500 pounds, have been caught in traps at Sandwich . . . "Since the stripers aren't hitting, I may as well try for a tuna," declared Joe Eldridge, skipper of the party boat, "The Striper," which is equipped with a rig for bluefin angling.

"Scores of fishermen are getting a few catches of several species here," stated Al Tripp, veteran boatman of Manomet Point.

COD NIBBLING

"Some tautog are in; the mackerel are hitting now and then; haddock are being boated about two miles out; and cod are nibbling. One chap brought in a 32-pound cod yesterday."

Al also told us that there seem to be more anglers than ever this season. His spot is a favorite rendezvous for family parties and youthful hand-liners or rod wielders.

Bill Gynan, who works for Capt. Al Kezar, the "tuna champ"—he's ironed 20 to date this year—gave us word that plenty of two and three-pound mackerel are cruising the waters off Plum Island. Haddock and flounders are also being hooked here.

Large numbers of stripers have been seen on the flats at the mouth of the Merrimack river—but they won't go for bait at the moment . . . A small amount of bass have been beached from the surf at Plum Island.

STRIPER NOTES

In reply to several inquiries, we've learned that few stripers are being taken in the North River at present, although the sport should speed up in this stream . . . Anglers, fishing shoulder-to-shoulder, crowd the Powder Point Bridge, Duxbury, when the tides are right, but they, too, have caught minor quantities of bass . . . Eddie Farrell, tackle expert of Bob Smith's tried his luck surf casting from Crane's Beach, Ipswich, the other night, accompanied by Bob Shaughnessy. They drew blank.

CLUB CHATTER: We mentioned recently that Bay State sportsmen's clubs were participating with the Dept. of Conservation in raising six-week-old pheasant chicks. Here is a list of those organizations:

Great Barrington Fish & Game Club, West Newbury Sportsmen's Club, Haverhill Sportsmen's Club, Greenfield Rod & Gun Club, Maynard Sportsmen's Club, Sudbury Sportsmen's Club, Fitzfield Sportsmen's Club, Wankinquoah Club, Wareham, Nantucket Sportsmen's Club, Metacomet Sportsmen's Club, Westboro Sportsmen's Club, Cape Ann Sportsmen's Club, Gloucester, Fairview Sportsmen's Club, Agawam Sportsmen's Club, Ludlow Fish & Game Club, Western Mass. Rod & Gun Club, Dudley Fish & Game Club, Hamilton Rod & Gun Club, Bridgewater Rod & Gun Club, Taunton Fish & Game Club, Taunton Foxhound Club, Falmouth Club, Barnstable Club, Cape Cod Sportsmen's Club, Orange Gun Club, Athol-Orange Pheasant Club, Athol Fish & Game Club, Andover Sportsmen's Club, Bass River Rod & Gun Club, Yarmouth, Shawme Fish & Game Club, Sandwich; Highland Fish & Game Club, Provincetown.

BULLETIN

Three big schools of striped bass entered Cape Cod Canal on the east tide last night after the storm, and heavy catches were made from both banks. Arnold Lane of Worcester weighed in the biggest fish at 35 pounds. Many over 20 pounds were taken.

Braves Open 4-Game Buc Series

PITTSBURGH, July 29—Billy Southworth's fourth place Braves moved in today for four games with the Pirates, still bent on regaining the second place spot that narrowly escaped them in St. Louis against the Cardinals. Charley (Red) Barrett or Bill Voiselle was scheduled to pitch tonight in the set that includes a double-header tomorrow.

The Braves and Warren Spahn appeared headed for a series split and second place tie with the Cards after seven innings yesterday, but the world champions tied it up, 7-7, in the eighth on Del Rice's eighth homer of the season with two on. Then went on to win, 8-7, on Joe Garagiola's single against Si Johnson with the bases loaded in the ninth.

Before all that, the Braves had exploded with six runs in the fourth, routing George Munger during an explosive seven-hit attack that included three doubles and home runs by Earl Torgeson and Tommy Holmes, each with two men on.

Bob Elliott's double and a single by Frank McCormick gave Boston its final run in the seventh off Howard Pollet, who followed Ken Burkhart to the mound.

Al Brazle, fourth Card hurler, was promptly yanked in the ninth after F. McCormick opened with a single, and Ted Wilks pitched the Cards out of trouble for his second victory of the year.

The loss was Johnson's fifth against one triumph, and left the Braves with a 3-5 record for the trip.

MARATHONER KILLED

REVELSTOKE, B. C., July 29 (AP)—Ben Buffet, 30-year-old athlete who acquired fame by walking the 1000 miles from his home at New Waterford, N. S., to Boston to participate in three B. A. A. marathons, was killed in a traffic accident near here.

Schaefer Midget Auto Race Champ

PHILADELPHIA, July 29 (AP)—Dutch Schaefer of Floral Park, N. Y., is the new eastern states midget auto racing champion.

Schaeffer, who finished second to Johnny Ringger of New York in the third and final leg of the championship at the Yellow Jacket speedway won the first leg of the championship but failed to finish in the second because of mechanical trouble. His showings in the three races gave him a total of 280 points and the title.

Geyer Rejoins Bears After Missing '46 Season

CHICAGO, July 29 (AP)—Halfback Bill Geyer, who missed the entire 1946 season because of a knee injury, today rejoined the champion Chicago Bears of the National Football League.

Owner-coach George Halas said Geyer last winter underwent an operation on the injuryed knee and that he was confident the former Colgate star would regain his form of 1943, his last active season with the Bears. Geyer spent three years in service and returned to the Bears last summer.

BATTING — Hank Majeski, Athletics—Homered with one on in the last of the ninth to give the Athletics a 5-3 victory over the White Sox. He doubled earlier in the game and scored a run.

PITCHING — Joe Hatten, Dodgers—Pitched a three-hit 4-0 shutout over Chicago, his sixth straight conquest of the Cubs this season.

Brockton Welter On Dilboy Card

Tommy Dearth, Brockton welterweight, will be making his first start of the season at Dilboy Field, Somerville, tomorrow night when he goes after top honors in another amateur boxing program conducted by the George Dilboy Post, V. F. W.

Dearth may be placed in a special 5-round bout with Massachusetts State champion, Hal Sullivan, Tewksbury, just as Rod McDonald, Quincy, pairs off against Dan Cronin, Watertown, in the experimental 2-minute-round bouts.

Other new entries filed for this show include heavyweights Bob Gerard, Lynn; Lou Thresher, North End, and Billy Hardemann, Roxbury, and from lightweights George Sylvestra, Melford; Art O'Brien, Malden, and Joe Repetto, Malden.

Competition in this floodlight show will be in classes A and B in all divisions from the 112's to heavyweights.

Kaiser Tells of Plane Plan 'Kiss-Off'

STORY ON PAGE 2

Shooting Victim—Margery Martin, 16, of Cleveland, who was shot and killed as she was entering the driveway of her home. The girl's alleged assailant, Steve Gajdos, a neighbor, was wounded in a gunbattle with police following the shooting. He will probably recover.

Thrilled

Little Bertha Turpin, 5, one of nine children of a Kentucky tenant farmer, is fascinated as she turns on first faucet she has ever seen, in temporary home given her by Mrs. H. J. Williams (right) at Louisville, Ky. Bertha's father had offered the family for adoption.

Anglers

Men, women and children line up at Kelley's Landing, So. Boston, to wet their lines for silver hake which have started to run. Large catches were reported by the night fishermen who used all types of tackle. Many stayed through the early hours this morning to fill large baskets with the succulent fish.
